

Eighth Keystone Cornucopia Features PA Foods

HARRISBURG — In a departure from tradition, the 1989 Keystone Cornucopia is a served dinner rather than the buffet meal offered at the previous seven functions.

Cornucopia Coordinator Kathy Gill noted that the meal will feature two entrees "to ensure that the diversity of the Keystone State's agricultural bounty is evident at the February 6 event."

The dinner, sponsored by the Pennsylvania State Council of Farm Organizations and scheduled at the Hershey Lodge and Convention Center, is a tribute to the Commonwealth's number one industry. The reception and dinner

Farm Show Champion Prices Down, Except Swine

BY LOU ANN GOOD

HARRISBURG — The traditional Sale of Champions brought Farm Show activities to a climax on Friday, January 13.

Noted for record-breaking prices, the annual sale this year dropped considerably except for the champion market hog, which sold for a record price of $21.50 a pound.

Fifteen-year-old Susan Toner of Clinton County, who sold her champion market swine for $4,644, said, "I was so excited to Hatfield Packing set a record when they purchased Susan Toner's champion market hog for $21.50 a pound or $4,644. From left: Secretary of Agriculture Boyd Wolff, Clair Clemens, Lieutenant Governor Mark Singel and Jerry Clemens (kneeling).

Second Farm Show Supreme Dairy Champion?

EPHRATA (Lancaster) — Contrary to information from the Farm Show press office, 1989 was not the first year a supreme dairy champion was selected, according to Marvin Miller of Strasburg.

Miller should know. He earned that honor in 1980. The headline on the front page of the January 12, 1980 issue of Lancaster Farming read "Grand View Fields Supreme Champion". Miller had a better chance than his competitors that year. Grand View Farms exhibited not one, but two grand champions. Miller took the grand titles in both the Guernsey and Holstein breeds. It was Miller's Holstein which WAYNESBORO (Franklin) — "The Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture has stopped paying for the brucellosis vaccination program," State Director James Burdette of Mercersburg told the 150 people assembled at the Franklin County Holstein Club's Annual Meeting and Awards Banquet. The PA Holstein Association has written a resolution requesting the reinstatement and continuation of the vaccination program. Burdette encouraged dairy farmers to write to their legislators to ask them to reinstate the program.

Burdette also stated that the PA Holstein Association is at the fore-

Tobacco Auction Prices

Reach All-Time High

BY LISA RISSE

PARADISE (Lancaster) — Lancaster County history was in the making this past week at the Paradise Tobacco Auction as buyers paid up to $1.40 for a pound of 609-type tobacco.

"Three years ago when we began the auction, $1.30 a pound was the high," recalled Eric Probst, auction manager.

Prices for the Maryland-type tobacco have been increasing steadily since the season's opening five weeks ago. At the onset $1.25 was the average price whereas this week $1.37 was the average with $1.40 being the high.

There is a tremendous demand for Lancaster County-grown tobacco partly for its good quality, but also because "our tobacco follows demands set in the burley markets and the burley market is short in poundage," explained Probst. "There is about a 3 million pound drop in production in the county as compared to previous years. This scenario set the stage for prices we've never seen in tobacco!"

Farmers doing business through private treaty are also benefiting

Changing The Image Of Agricultural Education

Breaking New Ground At Conrad Weiser

BY LISA RISSE

ROBESONIA (Berks) — Agricultural education is changing. The restructuring and streamlining that has been shaking up businesses during the 80s has struck agricultural education. The changing educational needs of students have necessitated a corresponding change in the ag course material.

The most visible sign of change occurred in November at the national FFA convention when members voted to change the organization's name. No longer is the group Future Farmers of America. It is simply the FFA organization.

The name change reflects the wider diversity of agricultural-related careers open to students today. Agriculture is more than farming and ranching. It encompasses everything from food producing to food processing with subjects such as conservation, bioengineering, and economics thrown in.

Editor's Note: The needs of agricultural education and the means to support it in the school systems have become issues of discussion in recent years. This occasional series by all the staff members at Lancaster Farming at various times during 1989 will explore these issues. Each article in the series will carry the above logo.

Steve Miller, left, and Don McNutt are directing changes in the agricultural education program at Conrad Weiser High School. One of the biggest changes approved by the school board is the establishment of two ag classes that will provide students with science credits.

FUTURES MARKET TRENDS GRAIN AND LIVESTOCK

Acres Corn Update: Corn futures prices began to rebound today and closed from 2-3/4 to 6 cents higher mainly on buying tied to sharply higher wheat prices. Added strength was attributed to ideas the market had become over sold during the last few sessions along with the absence of the cancellation of sales to the Soviet Union which propelled losses yesterday. Last Friday's bearish USDA reports continued to exert some pressure and served to keep active buying interest away. March closed 2-3/4 cents higher at $2.70-1/2 after trading to a high of $2.71 shortly before the close.

Acres Soybean Update: Soybean futures settled from unchanged on the January option to as much as 8-3/4 cents higher on the November option. After recording steep losses midsession word of rallying wheat prices drifted over to the bean pit and ignited a round of short covering. News from South America that the Brazilian Institute had estimated the crop at 22.4 MMT which was well above the USDA estimate of 20 MMT took prices to 7 week lows shortly before noon with further pressure linked to sluggish near term demand. The November option gained 8-3/4 cents and ended today's session at $7.31-1/4 while the January was unchanged and the March gained 1/4 cent.

Acres Wheat Update: Wheat futures closed sharply higher but off session highs with prices fueled by reports that China had purchased 750,000 metric tonnes of export bonus for new crop months outside of export bonus terms. July traded to a high of $4.07 shortly after noon and ended the session 5-3/4 cents higher at $4.04-1/4. Further support was linked to ongoing concerns of dry conditions in the hard red belt along with continued buying linked to Friday's bullish report. News that Egypt and Turkey increased their bids for export bonus added further support in addition to news that the USSR could soon bid on their remaining wheat under export bonus.

Acres Cattle Update: Live cattle futures closed sharply lower this afternoon posting losses from 25 points on the deferred December to 135 points on the April option. Feeders closed from 53 points lower on the spot option to as much as 135 points lower on the March. Heavy sales were triggered by a breakout to the downside after a 3 week price congestion which served to fuel a panic sell-off. Concerns over light slaughter and heavy cattle weights added further pressure along with ideas beef prices would soon begin to deteriorate. Feeders closed sharply lower in sympathy with activity in the live cattle pit.

ACRES NEXT DAY OUTLOOK cash - steady to lower futures - steady to weak

UNITED STATES...LACK OF PRECIPITATION CONTINUED TO STRESS WINTER WHEAT IN THE CENTRAL AND SOUTHERN PLAINS. SNOW COVER WAS ADEQUATE IN THE NORTHERN PLAINS. WINTER WHEAT WAS MOSTLY GOOD TO FAIR IN THE CORN BELT AND THE SOUTH. RAIN LIMITED FIELDWORK IN THE DELTA AND PORTIONS OF THE CORN BELT AND THE SOUTH-EAST. SOIL MOISTURE WAS MOSTLY ADEQUATE TO SURPLUS IN THE DELTA. LIVESTOCK WAS IN MOSTLY GOOD CONDITION. WESTERN USSR...WINTER GRAINS REMAIN DORMANT. WINTER GRAINS IN THE WEST AND SOUTH LACK A PROTECTIVE SNOW COVER. EASTERN ASIA...MODERATE TO HEAVY RAIN CONTINUES ACROSS SOUTHERN AND EASTERN CROP AREAS. SOUTH AMERICA...LIGHT SHOWERS PROVIDE MINIMAL RELIEF TO DROUGHT-STRESSED CROPS IN ARGENTINA. WIDESPREAD RAIN IN SOUTH-CENTRAL BRAZIL HELPS SOUTHERN SOYBEANS BUT SOAKS NORTHERN CROP AREAS.

EXPORT NEWS: TURKEY IS TENDERING UNDER EBP FOR 100,000 TONNES OF HARD RED SPRING WHEAT. SOUTH KOREA IS TENDERING FOR 16,500 TONNES OF U.S. WHEAT FOR FEB SHIPMENT. SOUTH KOREA IS ALSO TENDERING FOR 27,000 TONNES OF U.S. WHEAT FOR FEB/MAR. SOUTH KOREA'S FEED AGENCY IS TENDERING FOR 150,000 TONNES OF NO. 2 YELLOW CORN FOR FEB/MAR SHIPMENT. Performance Begins Here

Inside Each Bag of Funk's G-Hybrids and Hoffman Soybeans

Performance That's the bottom line. Performance that's measured by such characteristics as standability, grain quality, disease resistance and, most important, yields

You'll get that performance from Funk's G-Hybrids like G-4543, the top yielding hybrid in Delaware Performance Trials in 1986 and 1987. Or Funk's G-4626, one of the highest yielding varieties in southern Pennsylvania and Maryland during the past three years. Or from Hoffman soybeans like Hoffman 359, a leader in 1987 Maryland trials in Queens-town and Quantico Get your ticket to superior performance by contacting your local Hoffman Seed representative or our Landisville office. Call toll free 1-800-233-0137 In PA: 1-800-732-0456.

THE OLD FARMER'S ALMANAC

JAN. 23-29, 1989
Time to flake out.

"Put your John Hancock on that!" Birthday of this American patriot and statesman, Jan. 23. Same day is National Handwriting Day and National Pie Day. One-Tooth Rhee Landing Day, Jan. 23, named for mythical Korean inventor of "confusionist burrocacy" custom. Officials wear four hats, and jobs have contradictory instructions. Average length of days for the week 9 hours 46 minutes. James W. Marshall discovered gold in California, Jan. 24, 1848 and Gold Rush was on! Last quarter moon, Jan. 29. Brevity is the soul of wit - Shakespeare

Ask the Old Farmer: What kind of winter weather have you had in your section? I Q, Vt Perfectly cussed! In fact it was a darned sight worse than we expected, and we expected it would be!

Home Hints: Need an ice pack for unexpected falls or bruises? Look in your freezer. A package of frozen vegetables, in a plastic bag, makes an instant ice pack. It's quick, easy, ready to use — and nutritious too!

OLD FARMER'S WEATHER FORECAST

New England: Just as you would predict a snowstorm! Clear and seasonable, the week ends as it has begun, with another bout of white stuff, quite heavy.

Greater New York-New Jersey: Cloudy and cold, snow then clearing before more cold; a snowstorm in the north, but it's light snow only in the south.

Middle Atlantic Coastal: Sunny and mulder to start, snowstorm and a cold wave follow next, clear and frigid weather, but the week ends with warming temps.

Piedmont & Southeast Coastal: Seasonable, showers are heavy in the south, cold weather follows, then clearing for the end of the week.

NEW SALE DATES

Monday, January 23 - 9:30 AM
Thursday, January 26 - 9:30 AM

Buyers have been playing their games but we are continuing to play back - Only with your help and your tobacco can we continue to do it!

DON'T YOU SEE THE VALUE OF HAVING US STAY?! If you do, show us by supporting us and bringing us your tobacco!

WE ARE YOUR BEST TOBACCO MARKET

Prices this week for good tobacco, $1.36 - $1.37 - $1.38 & $1.40 per lb.

WHO GOT CURRENT PRICES TO THESE LEVELS?! Really, do you think it was the buyers? Believe it, even if you don't want to, buyers tend to get things bought for as cheap as they can.

We feel that we have supported you to a great extent, now it's your turn to show us if you want us. We need more tobacco to continue to keep this tobacco market alive. Don't forget what we've done for you this year, in the past and probably in the future.

Thank those farmers who have seen what we stand for and who have supplied us with tobacco.

REMEMBER, SALE NOW ON THURSDAYS
INSTEAD OF WEDNESDAYS.

Receiving Tobacco Saturday from 7:30 a.m. to 12 noon.

We are now dealers of 3 compartment bale boxes, tobacco seed, and cotton baling twine.

It's not like the youth was going to jump on his Air Force One Grand Champion Steer and fly out of Harrisburg through the Farm Show's large arena roof or something. But just the same, the TV and still camera crews, along with hordes of news reporters gathered at the appointed time--not one minute before--and poised on the sidelines to make a mad dash into the ring to assail the soon-to-be-named winner of the junior beef show last week. We overheard one big city photographer warn his staff reporter in advance to be ready to "get in there because it was going to be a 'zoo'."

As soon as the judge, with the traditional slap on the winning steer's rump, broke the pressure of suspense that had built up in the hearts and minds of county agents, vo-ag teachers, club leaders, parents and other spectators (the kids seem to remain rather calm), all pandemonium came unlocked. TV men with cameras in front of their faces switched on bright lights and rushed like robots from outer space toward their prey. Reporters yelled instructions and questions at the youth as if he was hard of hearing. Still photographers jostled for position, pushing and shoving each other like there was a fire blocking the exit to Maclay Street.

Of course, not all reporters found it necessary to get involved in the "zoo." For example, a staff writer for Lancaster Newspapers followed the whole show and had his interviews with the possible winners before the champion was named. Also, in a much more relaxed time after the bright lights had faded into the grandstand seats, adult leaders told Lancaster Farming about the joy of seeing this year's winner, Fred Weaver, Ephrata, grow up and the pride they had in his accomplishments that spoke more of his character than his championship win. Even Judge Scott Schaake, University of Kentucky, talked about how youth programs had helped him to mature as a person. And before he selected the champions, Schaake stressed the thought that "to participate is to win."

Certainly, it's nice to win. And we congratulate the winners. But we also congratulate those who worked hard to participate but just didn't happen to end up in first place.

And as for the media "zoo" at the naming of the grand champion, wild animal traits were definitely observed in the ones behind cameras and note pads.

FARM FORUM OUR READERS WRITE

Editor:

As president of the Adams County Farmers' Association, I must present our opposition to the pay raise introduced in the January 9th proposed budget from $89,500 to $135,000 per year for members of the United States Congress.

Our organization, which is a member of the Pennsylvania Farmers' Association, supports a freeze on spending; by all means, a freeze on a pay increase of this size which is in total opposition to balancing the budget.

I am writing to you in the hopes that I can encourage all individuals and groups to write a letter to Speaker James Wright of the House of Representatives in opposition to the pay raise before January 31st.

NOW IS THE TIME

By Jay Irwin

Lancaster County Agriculture Agent

To Keep Farm Equipment In Good Condition

This is the time to replace those worn or damaged parts and tires on your farm machinery.

Maintaining and restocking needed spare parts should be a must before the really busy spring season is under way. Have the tractor engine timed by your local dealer. Consult the operator's manual and adjust field machines according to manufacturer's recommendations.

Order a supply of oils, filters, and greases that are needed to maintain tractors and other equipment. It pays to take time out to start a system of record-keeping for each machine. Keep good records of maintenance and repairs and you can save some money in this highly mechanized farming operation.

Remember, a breakdown at planting time is costly. The best prevention is good maintenance.

To Appreciate Your Farm

Life can become so hectic ... too much to do ... on the run. You've been on the tractor or in the barn almost nonstop since sunrise and there's too much on your mind to notice the stunning sunset. Farming is still full of the best in life. Probably many of the reasons you wanted to be a farmer or live on a farm are the very things you don't pay much attention to anymore. It's more than machinery or livestock, bills or market fluctuations -- it's a way of life which in itself holds much to be desired and appreciated.

We must not let the excessive stress on the farm interfere with your home and family life. Medical research estimates as high as 90% of today's illness and disease is stress related. Farming is one of the most stressful occupations today. We must admit stress to ourselves before we can deal with it. Most importantly, take time to "smell the flowers." And say to yourself -- just for today, I will live through the next twelve hours and not try to tackle all life's problems at once.

To Be Aware of a Nitrogen Fertilizer Test

Nitrogen is a critical component of plant fertility. According to Robert Anderson, Extension Agronomy Agent, nitrogen controls plant metabolism and is the major component of plant protein. It is a key element of the chlorophyll molecule and plays a key role in photosynthesis. Until recently nitrogen recommendations were based on projected yields because nitrogen soil testing was not available. Farm crops which are under fertilized with nitrogen, typically show yellowing of the leaf which reduces photosynthesis and total production. Dr. Richard Fox, Penn State Agronomist, has developed a soil nitrogen test which can be used to evaluate the amount of residual nitrogen in the soil. Using Dr. Fox's test will allow reducing nitrogen application without reducing yields. For more information, contact your county extension office.

To Prune Shade Trees

Winter is a good time to prune the shade trees on your property because the trees are dormant and won't be affected by the trimming as much. The bare limbs let you see where and how much to prune. And it's easier to reshape tangled and low-hanging branches.

Most trees need thinning when they approach maturity. But, corrective pruning is important when trees are young. While the young tree is growing, it's important to remove a branch starting in the wrong position because this branch could change the whole tree structure.

Pruning consists mostly of cuttings that train the tree ... but it generally involves more and more thinning out of weak and dead wood as the tree matures. There is a saying that "as the branch is bent, so will the tree grow." With pruning, the results are even more drastic, for a limb which is cut will not grow back. So it's important to know the proper method of pruning before you start.

ON LOVING & FORGIVING MUCH

January 22, 1989

Background Scripture: Luke 7:36-50.

Devotional Reading: Romans 5:1-11.

Before we come down too hard on Simon the Pharisee, let's try to see this situation as he must have seen it. Because he regarded Jesus as a prophet, he invited him to his home so that he might learn more about him. While they were at the table, a woman whom the Pharisee recognized as a prostitute entered his house and began to weep and anoint the feet of his guest. If this were your house, what would you have done? Wouldn't you have been embarrassed at this woman's presence? Wouldn't you have wanted to order her from your house?

Furthermore, wouldn't you have wondered what kind of prophet Jesus could be if he failed to realize what kind of woman she was? Prophets were supposed to know what other people didn't know and see things other people couldn't see. Everyone in town knew that this woman was a blatant sinner. How could Jesus be oblivious of that?

HE KNEW MUCH

Here was a man who was obviously proud of what he knew and understood. He knew the laws of the Pharisees and he knew how to live by those laws. He knew what was proper for a good Jew and what was not. He knew with whom he could associate and with whom he could not. Life was pretty much a matter of dividing the sheep from the goats and he was sure he stood firmly with the sheep.

But perhaps there was more to Simon's reactions. I think he may well have been jealous of this woman. He probably felt that he had taken considerable risk to invite this controversial man to his house. Here was his guest giving his attention and concern to a disreputable sinner who shouldn't have been allowed to cross his threshold! What's the good of being a paragon of virtue if the sinners get all the attention?

So Simon knew much, but did he not know enough. He couldn't have known much about Jesus if he expected this man to turn away a repentant sinner. He could not have really understood the love and grace of God if he thought this woman was beyond God's mercy. Nor did he understand that life is not divided between the sinners and the saints, because we are all sinners and we all have the opportunity to be saints.

HE LOVED LITTLE

Actually, as the expositor in the Interpreter's Bible puts it, "It is the Pharisee who doesn't know! It is he who does not know that every human being is God's creature and the object of his care; that even the most shameless sinner can be forgiven; that no one is righteous in God's sight, but all stand equally in need of God's mercy; that love is the fulfillment of the law. It is he who is really ignorant!" (Vol. 8, p. 143).

Neither did Simon really understand what love is all about. Because Jesus knew what was going on in Simon's heart, he told a parable about a creditor and two debtors. The point of the parable was that one who is forgiven much, loves much in return. Even Simon was able to realize that. Jesus then went on to contrast the actions of the "fallen woman" with those of the "righteous" Pharisee. The woman was repentant and treated Jesus with great respect and reverence. The Pharisee, by contrast, was too proud and haughty to extend to Jesus the simple courtesies of a guest.

Lean, mean pork chop machine.

New Pro Lean Swine Feeds from Agway can add more lean meat faster. And with today's emphasis on lean meats, that can mean healthier profits for you.

Using regular swine feeds, you can expect a pig to reach 40 pounds by the end of two months. With Pro:Lean, you can expect 45. And during the crucial 4 months of growing and finishing, Pro:Lean adds lean meat fast.

With an additional .1 pound per day weight gained, your pigs reach finishing weight and go to market faster. Up to 10 days earlier than with most swine feeds. And leaner hogs can really help fatten your wallet.

Contact your local Agway store or farm enterprise salesperson for expert advice on your pork production operation, nutritional needs and technical service.

Finish leaner & faster with new Pro:Lean.

HARDY OUTSIDE WOOD FURNACE HEATS YOUR HOME AND YOUR HOT WATER

- * IDEAL FOR NEW CONSTRUCTION, existing homes, GREEN-HOUSES, SWIMMING POOLS, SPAS.
- * FURNACE SITS OUTSIDE - 10'-100' from home/business/barn. Removes fire danger.
- * CLEAN - No ashes, dust smoke, trash inside.
- * CONVENIENT - Load every 10-12 hours. Burns logs up to 16" in diameter & 30" long. Stops most log splitting.
- * THERMOSTAT CONTROLLED - Even heat.
- * EASILY CONNECTS to forced Air/Hot Water System. Needs no chimney or water heater. Heats domestic hot water year round. Warm months of the year firing every 6 to 10 days.
- * DAIRY, VEAL & PIG FARMERS - BIG savings for you on heating & hot water costs at barn.

B. Oldham Tobacco Company

We would like to have you as our customer. We are paying $1.33 for middles, tops & bottoms and paying top prices for outgrades. You can compare our average price with any of the other companies or the auction & you'll see we are paying the most. You will take home a larger check per lb. with us than any where else. We will be receiving tobacco Mondays, Tuesdays, & Fridays of each & every week at our new Quarryville location, and also Wednesdays & Thursdays of each week at Garden Spot Tobacco Warehouse.

We have sold our 1986 processed tobacco. If we have processed any for you, please call the week of Jan. 16 for dates & location to be paid. We will have free certified 609 tobacco seed for our customers starting Monday, Jan. 16.

Due to the fact that I have a deadline on my order - after Jan. 26 I will go back to original contract prices - so get your tobacco stripped & delivered as soon as possible!

Garden Spot Tobacco Warehouse
717-354-6934 from 8 to 5

Townsend Crowned 1989 State Fair Queen

LANCASTER—Kelly Townsend representing Washington County Fair was crowned the 1989 Pennsylvania State Fair Queen at a luncheon here Thursday. Townsend will reign over the activities of the State Association of County Fairs and attend many local fairs as an ambassador of good will. The 1988 State Queen, Joy Dippert, crowned the new queen.

Runner up in the contest that had representatives from 24 local fairs in competition for the state honor was Kimberly McClymont, Wyoming County Fair.

Townsend is the 18-year-old daughter of John and Jacquelyn Townsend. The new queen is majoring in Management at Syracuse University. She is a member of Alpha Phi Sorority. In high school, she held offices in Student Government and Tri-County Student Forum. Townsend was co-captain of the varsity cheerleading squad, sang in the choir and was a member of the Varsity Club and the Chartones.

McClymont is the 20-year-old daughter of Connie T. McClymont and attends Buchnell University.

She is manager of the Varsity Cross County and Track, vice president of Synchronized Swim Club, and is yearbook photographer. She is a member of Alpha Chi Omega and was Homecoming Chairperson '88.

The State Association also made awards for excellence in commu-

SCRAP BOOK: 1. Indiana County; 2. Somerset County; 3. Hookstown.

SLIDE SET: 1. Indiana County; 2. Hookstown; 3. Washington County.

FARI BOOK: 1. Clearfield County; 2. Indiana County; 3. Warren County.

PROMOTIONAL MATERIAL DISPLAY: 1. York County; 2. Washington County; 3. Big Butler.

Indiana County.

VIDEO (Commercial): 1. Washington County; 2. Fayette County; 3. Kimberton.

BEST EXHIBIT: Fayette County.

BEST OF SHOW: York County.

Anniversary Ticket Deadline Near

dall's World." Hired by WGAL-TV in 1968, Woodbury has served as anchorman, producer and reporter. He is seen weeknights on Newscenter 8.

Born and raised on a dairy farm in Maine, Woodbury says he discovered early that "making movies" was more fun than milking cows! He graduated from the Leland Powers School of Radio, Television and Theatre in Boston, and began his career as a radio announcer.

The Hempfield Jazz Band, under the direction of Gary Luckenbill, will provide musical entertainment for the program.

There will be recognition of early leaders in the movement to build the Farm and Home Center, which was the first center of its kind in Pennsylvania, designed to provide a hub for agriculture and home economics programs. It continues to serve as a focal point for Lancaster County's agricultural industry which leads the state.

Tickets for the dinner, which is open to the public, can be purchased from any member of the Board of Directors of the Farm and Home Foundation or by calling the Penn State Extension Service at 394-6851, or the Farm and Home Center at 392-4911. The Center is located at 1383 Arcadia Road, Lancaster, Pa. 17601.

Big Dutchman®

NIPPLE DRINKER FEATURES

- Day-old birds can activate the valve from any side, any angle. (Mini drinkers required only if birds have been debeaked day-old.)
- Triple stainless steel valve seat made to precision specifications. No rubber seats to replace. Drinker operates on low ¼ lb. pressure. Minimizes wet litter problems.
- Each nipple can serve 15 broilers, 10 heavy breeders or 8 turkeys.
- Drinker mounts on water line saddle by means of a "J" flange. Easy assembly and easy replacement.
- Drinker is easy to take apart & re-assemble. All parts are accessible and removable by simply pulling the cap out of the body.
- New Mini-Trough Drinker available for day old debeaked birds. Attaches to Nipple Floor Watering System, and remains through grow-out period. There is no need to remove the mini-trough between flocks.

SYSTEM FEATURES

- Water is always accessible, and always clean. The system is completely enclosed. Nipples are self cleaning, and they do not collect dirt. Since the nipple "washes" every time it is triggered, it does not get clogged by feed or feather dust.
- Drier litter is maintained because of the reliable triple seal and low water pressure. There is less spillage and no squirting with this low pressure (¼ lb. or less) watering system.
- The pressure regulator (30VVR332) can provide and maintain a uniform ¼ lb. pressure for the entire length of a 500 ft. ¾ inch plastic water pipe.
- Inspection and maintenance are easy. If a nipple needs replacement, simply turn to disengage the "J" flange and pull the unit out of the "saddle" or pipe connector. The new nipple may be inserted and locked in place by turning to engage the "J" flange. There are no threaded parts, clips or screws.
- Other maintenance tasks are as easy. Leveling may be done by means of adjustment straps on the winch cables. There are no cups, troughs or founts to clean.
- Simple installation for floor systems. Plastic water pipe is clamped to 1" conduit sections, coupled together for continuous support. Conduit is suspended from winch system at 12' (max.) intervals. The ¾" plastic water pipe clamps to conduit line every 24".

Patz Gutter Cleaner

Fast Facts:

- Durable Patz hook-and-eye link chain allows easy maintenance. Progression forging builds extra strength in hook-and-eye link contact points. Final heat treating increases hardness, strength and wear resistance.
- Choice of two link sizes to match gutter length.
- Four-tooth sprocket drives every link. Each sprocket tooth drives each link behind the hook — the link's thickest and strongest point.
- Flexibility for various layouts.
- Select 2" steel angle flites for solid manure or 4" high flites for slurry manure. Flites are welded to Patz links.
- Three drive unit sizes match your gutter length and allow expansion.
- Corner wheel top-and-bottom flanges guide the chain around the corner. Corner wheel assemblies remove easily for service without concrete breakout.
- Automatic chain tightener.
- Heavy-gauge steel slide with steel center beam for added strength.

Control Stress In Dairy Animals

BY T.L. SMITH
Psh. Vet Science Ext.

Animal stress is defined as an internal or environmental (external) stimulus that initiates an adaptive change or a stress response in an animal. Stress is an important consideration when we aim to increase production through promoting an animal's well being. Unfortunately, stress is a commonly ignored factor in many aspects of animal management.

Oftentimes, particularly in intensive confinement operations, animals' needs are not understood and therefore not met. This can alter immune response and influence the ability to thrive. So-called "stress" can induce biological changes that will affect normal development and growth, depress reproductive and productive performance, in addition to decreasing disease resistance. Stressful episodes are particularly dangerous in ruminants, as they can promote changes in gastrointestinal tract motility leading to bloat and diminished rumen function. Stressors having the most profound effect on animals are: heat, cold, weaning, crowding, mixing, limit feeding, noise, and restraint. Suggestions for Decreasing Stress in Dairy Animals:

* Proper nutrition is crucial to alleviate physiological stress. Avoid rapid diet changes and deprivation of food or water. Providing regular feeding times helps to avoid social order competition.

* Do not perform simultaneous stressful procedures (do not wean and vaccinate at the same time, for example).

* Veterinary treatment should assure considerate handling of animals, with use of analgesics (pain relievers) when undertaking painful procedures. Traumatic procedures such as dehorning should be performed when animals are young and as small as possible. Restraint at this time is easier, and pain and trauma can be minimized.

* Treatment should attempt to minimize animal fear. Ensure that the stockperson attending animals is trained not only in technical skills, but in the importance of a good human-animal relationship. This has been documented to have a profound effect on animal welfare and productivity. Handling animals in a consistently patient, positive manner (hitting, kicking, prodding, shouting, etc.) is important.

* Poor, stressful handling and restraint can cause great economic losses to farmers. Eliminate loud noises and clanking metal in chutes and gates. Rope halters are preferred to use of nose tongs on cattle.

* Mixing of unfamiliar animals into established groups leads to aggression and production losses.

Keep new animals separate.

* Reduce exposure to infectious diseases and parasites whenever possible.

* Move animals in such a way as to avoid stressful encounters. Use electric prods sparingly. T.L. Smith

Progress In Coordinating Pennsylvania's Dairy Promotion Activities

BY KARL BERGER

EPHRATA, (Lancaster) — Longstanding efforts to more closely coordinate the overlapping activities of the four major dairy promotion groups operating in Pennsylvania appear to have gained a boost from several recent developments.

The intermittent talks between farm leaders and professional staff of the four groups have entered a more promising stage, according to Scott Higgins, manager of the Mid-East United Dairy Industry Association, a Columbus, Ohio-based group that operates in those parts of western Pennsylvania regulated under Federal Order 36 as well as several other states.

Higgins' enthusiasm was echoed by Christine Meissner, a spokesman for the Syracuse, N.Y.-based American Dairy Association and Dairy Council Inc. (ADA and DC) which operates in Federal Order 2; Robert McSparran, chairman of the Baltimore-based Middle Atlantic Milk Marketing Association, which operates in Federal Order 4; and Paul Corbin, chairman of the Pennsylvania Dairy Promotion Program (PDPP).

Corbin, a Jefferson County, Pa., farmer, said developing a better working arrangement with the other groups emerged as the "top priority" of directors attending the program's recent annual meeting. He said state Secretary of Agriculture Boyd Wolff has encouraged dialogue between the various parties and is hoping to coordinate a meeting of the groups' top leaders in the next few weeks.

Wolff "wants to insure that the promotion programs are as efficient and cost effective as possible ... He's inserted himself into the matter to help out as a kind of mediator," said Ron Gaskill, director of marketing in the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture.

Another development that may help spur the sometimes contentious parties to agreement is a change in the status of MAMMA, as the Order 4 program is commonly known. The promotion group previously received all of its funds through an automatic 10-cent a hundredweight deduction collected by the Order 4 market administrator's office. That deduction process was terminated Jan. 1 at the request of the Pennsylvania Dairymen's Federation, a group that represents the interests of the order's three major cooperatives.

The change means MAMMA will be funded by the voluntary contributions of cooperatives and independent producers in the Order 4 marketing area, which includes south-central Pennsylvania and the cities of Baltimore, Washington and Philadelphia, according to agency manager Dick Norton. (They are voluntary in the sense that the money does not have to go to MAMMA, although, as part of the mandatory 15-cent check-off, it must be deducted.)

Norton said the change removes a number of restrictions imposed by the federal order system. Association chairman McSparran, a Peach Bottom, Pa., farmer, said the agency is now free, for instance, to receive Pennsylvania Dairy Promotion funds for conducting MAMMA's programs in other parts of the state. The change also enables MAMMA to actively solicit funds from Order 4 producers, something it couldn't do before, Norton noted.

At issue in these developments is about $10.2 million collected annually from Pennsylvania dairymen as a two-thirds share of the 15-cent check-off. The other third goes automatically to the National Dairy Board.

Who Gets The Local Dime?

This "local dime" has been a subject of controversy almost since the creation of the Pennsylvania program in 1984 at the same time the nationwide check-off was beginning. Supporters of the three federal order programs, which were already a decade old by 1984, say the PDPP was supposed to merely fill the gaps in their coverage of the state and collect money only from dairymen not regulated by the three orders.

However, under the administration of former Secretary of Agriculture Penrose Hallowell, the Pennsylvania program exceeded this interpretation of its role. By 1986, the program had a $2 million budget and a more or less statewide advertising campaign on television and radio featuring the theme, "Make Mine Milk." Moreover, the program was receiving funds from a number of federal order producers, money that the order programs regarded as theirs.

Cooperatives and proprietary handlers regulated under the three orders routinely send their producers' local funds to the order programs, not the PDPP. Under the procedure in Order 36 (similar to the one just discontinued in Order 4), this is done by the market administrator's office. Order 2 producers in Pennsylvania receive a "positive letter" once a year in which they are requested to designate that their local contributions go to ADA and DC. Under MAMMA's new arrangement, the area's cooperative handlers, which take in about 95 percent of the raw milk supply, have all agreed to send breaking their own 1981 record price when they paid $19.50.

It was the first year Susan competed at state competition. She promised, "I'll definitely be back next year."

In the meantime she plans to invest her winnings in Agway stock.

The small arena was jammed with spectators and press people, but buyers were sparse resulting in less competitive bidding.

The 238-pound reserve champion swine, owned by Nikki Alters of Centre County, brought $4 a pound compared with $6 per pound for the previous year's reserve champion pig. Hatfield Packing brought Alter's pig for $952.

Bidding on the champion market lamb plunged from a hefty $75 per pound last year to $14 a pound this year. Keeping an eight-year tradition, the Kuzemchak brothers from Centre County showed both champion and reserve lambs. Joe Kuzemchak, 13, owned the champion which sold to Danny George's Foodliner Market, Bethlehem, for $1,862.

Joe's 18-year-old brother, Scott, sold his reserve champion lamb for $7.50 a pound to dual Lebanon County businesses Evergreen Tractor Company and Lebanon Valley National Bank.

Although steer bidding plummeted from last year's record $13.50 to $7 a pound this year, Fred Weaver, owner of the 1,265-pound steer was not complaining. "It's $8,855 that I didn't have before," the 18-year-old Ephrata youth reasoned. "I'll take the money and put it back into cattle."

His steer "Maverick" caused a stir when Secretary of Agriculture Boyd Wolf took the steer's halter in an effort to spur bidding. His efforts only increased Maverick's nervousness. Danny George gave the final bid at $7 per pound.

Kristine Chupp, a New Holland sophomore at Garden Spot High School, sold her reserve champion

"Maverick," the 1,265-pound champion steer owned by Fred Weaver, Ephrata, was not about to hold still for anyone. The haughty champion refused to pose for pictures. Danny George purchased him for $7 a pound or $8,855.

The reserve champion steer, Geronimo, bought $3,825 to Kristine Chupp of New Holland. Buyer was Danny George.

steer to Danny George for $3 a pound or $3,825.

She said, "It's been a really good week. You learn not to expect not to win and when you do, you're pleasantly surprised."

To her, more important than garnering money for their animals was recapturing the baby beef title for Lancaster County. She said, "I'm really glad Fred won. He deserved it."

She promised, "I'm going to work just as hard next year."

RCMA Has Agreement With Hershey

BATAVIA, N.Y. — The Regional Cooperative Marketing Agency (RCMA), a 22,000-dairy farmer organization, has received a signed agreement with Hershey Foods of Hershey. Hershey will begin paying the RCMA price on Class I fluid milk shipped in January. RCMA also announced that its members would receive a 30¢ cash premium per hundred pounds (cwt) of milk shipped in November.

"We are very happy about our agreement with Hershey," said RCMA Executive Director Ed Anna. "Hershey is a very important company to the dairy industry, and we are pleased to be able to work with them."

Anna said the continual premiums that RCMA is paying to its members are a reflection of the strong membership support in RCMA. "The 30¢ per cwt premium for November milk is just another example of this strength," he said.

RCMA President Bill Zuber said he was also pleased with the accomplishments of RCMA since the first premium payment in September 1987. "We hope our members and others interested in the survival of the dairy industry will continue to support RCMA throughout 1989," he said. RCMA has its annual region meetings coming up in February and March and "we hope to have a good attendance at those," Zuber said. "These meetings are especially important because all members will be able to hear the most important information concerning RCMA and the dairy industry today," said Zuber. The meeting schedules and information on what counties are in what region are available at the Batavia office: call 1-800-634-3723, Mon. - Fri., 7:30-5:00.

Chesapeake Bay Project Funds Available For Schuylkill District

POTTSVILLE (Schuylkill) — The Schuylkill Conservation District will be conducting a second sign-up period for the Chesapeake Bay project in the Swatara Creek Watershed. The sign-up will be held from February 6th-17th in the district office.

$128,000 is available for agricultural conservation work in the watershed. The money will be used to pay 80% of the cost of installation of conservation practices, up to $30,000 per farm. Any agricultural landowner interested in the program is urged to sign-up while funding is available. Although this is a five year project, variability in federal budgets and regulations can alter future allocations of cost-share funds for farmers.

If you are interested in agricultural conservation work, and are located in the Swatara Creek Watershed, now is the time to install it. With increasing regulations, it is advantageous to attain an environmentally sound agricultural operation while the money is available. Now There's A Farmer In Your Area Who Can Make Any Business Loan The Bank Can.

Since 1917, farmers have taken kindly to Farm Credit because we're owned and controlled by people who really understand your business.

Farmers. Just like yourself. Thing was, we didn't exactly lay out a Sunday dinner spread of loans. Our menu was limited, and we knew it.

So recently we overhauled our lending system. We now offer competitive rates and options for loans we never could offer before.

Adjustable rate mortgages.

Revolving lines of credit.

Variable and fixed rate loans.

Terms of 30 days to 30 years. There's even a variety of services including insurance plans.

Some things do remain the same, however. The Farm Credit loan officer you talk to still makes most of the decisions.

And chances are he can do it faster than most bankers can say "bureaucracy."

So think about this for a moment. Who would you rather deal with for your next loan? A banker who merely wants your business. Or a farmer who knows it.

Progress In Coordinating

their producers' funds to that agency, Norton said.

However, none of these arrangements are binding. Through various means, individual dairymen can designate that their money go to other qualified programs, such as the PDPP, and, increasingly, more and more of them have been doing so.

Staff for the various promotion groups say they lack precise figures for the numbers of dairymen or the amounts of money that have switched their allegiance from an order program to the PDPP, but the amounts would appear to comprise a significant portion of PDPP's $2 million a year income.

Changes In Order 36

In Order 36, which appears to have seen the most transfers occur, Mid-East UDIA has had to reduce its programming in the Pittsburgh market, Higgins said. "We cannot deliver to the dairy farmers of western Pennsylvania the same program they were getting before," he said.

Supporters of the order program also object to what they regard as solicitation on the part of the PDPP. For the last few years, Pennsylvania dairymen in the various areas regulated under the federal orders have received letters informing them of the procedure by which they can designate that their money go to the PDPP. These letters were formerly sent under the auspices of the Secretary of Agriculture. However, Wolff recently discontinued this practice and the last letters, to Order 4 producers in Pennsylvania, were sent by the PDPP itself.

Although the letters have not overtly espoused contributions to PDPP, supporters of the federal order programs say they violate a longstanding "hands-off" policy in the promotion business that's designed to insure that money "follows the milk to market."

Dairymen Are Free To Choose

PDPP supporters, on the other hand, defend the practice as offering farmers a choice of what program best serves their needs. Corbin said his board continues to support the principle that dairymen are entitled to choose to contribute their 10 cents to the PDPP or even to the National Dairy Board "if they feel that their money would be better invested by these organizations."

Following the milk to market has always been the practice of the various federal order marketing agencies. Under this principle, much of their money is spent across state lines and in major metropolitan markets far removed from dairy farms. For instance, ADA and DC, the Order 2 agency, will spend only about six percent of its $7.7 million advertising budget during the current fiscal order regardless of where their milk is actually sold.

By state law, the PDPP cannot conduct its program across state lines, Verner said. Its $1.15 million advertising budget for the fiscal year that began Oct. 1 will buy radio and television ads using the Make Mine Milk theme in five of the state's six main markets. The PDPP media program avoids Philadelphia, where media costs are prohibitive, Verner said. But it includes Pittsburgh, where fluid year in northeastern Pennsylvania, Meissner said. The vast bulk of its funds will be spent in the New York metropolitan market, where consumer concentrations are highest and can be reached most cost efficiently, she added.

MAMMA's Norton says spending money in major markets makes the most sense from an advertising standpoint. And because federal orders pool producer returns, any marketplace gains are realized by all producers regulated under an milk commercials featuring the theme "Milk: America's Health Kick" are sponsored by Mid-East UDIA; "the Scranton, Wilkes-Barre area, where the same commercials are sponsored by ADA and DC; and the Harrisburg-Lancaster-York area, where MAMMA's "Fitness You Can Drink" ads are aired.

An End To Duplication

Corbin said one goal of the current dialogue is to end this sort of duplication in fluid milk advertising.

The next largest PDPP budget allocation, about 12 percent, is for the work of National Dairy Council affiliates in Pittsburgh, Williamsport and Philadelphia, Verner said. (These also are funded by the three federal order programs and represent one area in which activities are coordinated.) Another eight percent of the budget, or about $200,000, is earmarked for the activities of local promotion groups in 57 counties across the state, mostly through a 50-50 matching arrangement.

The federal order programs do not have similar matching programs for local promotion groups, although they all contribute, as does the PDPP, to the state dairy princess program. On the other hand, the PDPP does not have the extensive store merchandising, food service and dairy sales management training program conducted by the order programs throughout their marketing areas, including parts of Pennsylvania.

Corbin said the PDPP board is open to the idea of paying the other groups to extend such programs across more of the state. However, he said his directors are not willing to merely rubber stamp the programming decisions of the other agencies.

"The Pennsylvania program is not going to disappear," he said.

Good Managers Raise Profits In Replacement Program

Franklin Co. Correspondent
KAUFFMAN STATION
(Franklin) — Three years ago, 350 dairy farmers in 22 Pennsylvania counties were surveyed about their calf and heifer raising practices. The survey, conducted by Penn State University, was designed to discover which aspects of calf and heifer management needed to be improved the most. The survey's ultimate goal was to reduce calf mortality, reduce the average age at first calving, and increase lifetime milk production.

Dr. Jud Heinrichs, Penn State University Extension Dairy Specialist, reported the survey's findings at Franklin County's Extension Dairy Day, held January 4 at Kauffman's Community Center.

Of the farms surveyed, 89.7 percent had Holsteins. The average number of cows per farm was 62.8, with 15,351 pounds of milk and a 3.79 fat test.

Before weaning, 98.8 percent of calves were fed grain, 80.2 percent received hay, but only 76.3 percent had water available to them.

"How is the farmer expecting them to eat that grain and hay?" Heinrichs asked when discussing the availability of water. "Calves should have a water bucket at one to two weeks."

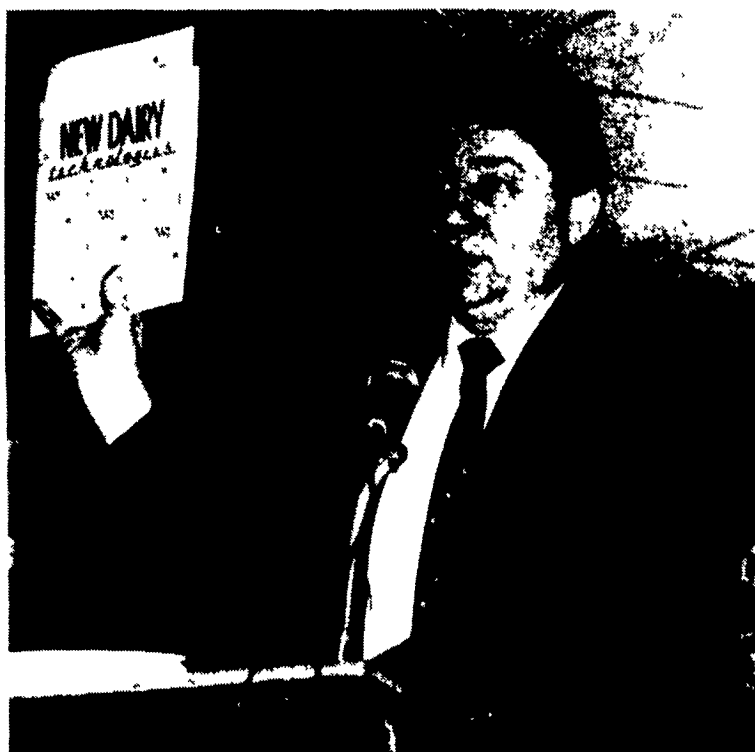

Only 51.8 percent of the farmers surveyed tested forages fed to calves and heifers. "This is the biggest nutritional problem statewide," Heinrichs said, and called for more forage testing and feed programming.

The survey, which Heinrichs

Other averages on the survey farms were:

Calving interval 13 months
Age at first calving 26.6 months
Percent of calves born dead 4.9
Percent of calves that died before reaching 1 year 8.2
Age calf identified 16.5 days
Calf dehorned 3.5 months
Percent removed extra teat 64

Dr. Laurence Muller, Penn State Professor of Animal Science discussed the availability and usage of Bovine Somatotrophin with Franklin County dairymen.

Dr. Jud Heinrichs, Penn State Extension Dairy Specialist showed Franklin County dairymen the benefits of improving their calf and heifer management.

Conrad Weiser

School is on the leading edge of this change in Pennsylvania. Don McNutt and Steve Miller are the teachers directing it.

"We think we're breaking new ground," commented McNutt. "We're trying to get rid of the stamped image of an agricultural school being a technical school."

"A kid coming out of an ag program should be able to go several ways," said Miller. "He should be able to get an entry-level job, go to college, or attend a post-secondary vocational school."

The agricultural program at Conrad Weiser has changed quite a bit in the last five years. It has gone from the traditional double-period program stressing strictly on-the-farm skills to separate periods teaching subjects on just about every facet of the agricultural industry. Students learn about genetics, biotechnology, agronomy, food science, economics, sociology, chemistry, physiology, biology, horticulture, ag history, embryo transfer, and more. Next year tissue culturing, hydroponics, and aquaculture will be added to the coursework.

The break from the traditional vocational-agricultural program is necessary as the needs of students change. "More kids are going to college today," said McNutt. "The traditional ag program didn't meet the college entrance needs of students."

In many cases, students didn't have two consecutive periods to devote to an elective, which vo-ag classes are considered. "That ruled out lots of academic kids right away," said McNutt.

About 1983 the vo-ag teachers at Conrad Weiser began their push to change the ag program and the public's perception of ag students. The result is a program geared toward both college- and farm-bound students. But despite this change, enrollment in the ag program had been slowly dropping. It was time for Miller and McNutt to review their program and find out why enrollment was down.

"It was time to restructure," said Miller. "We talked to students about electives, and we looked at career goals. We found that other electives did far more recruiting, and we found that, by and large, students didn't have time to take ag courses. The ones that did have time had a zealous desire to stay (in ag) because of the course work and FFA."

Miller and McNutt found an answer to the latter concern in the example of the Chowchilla FFA chapter in Chowchilla, Calif. "All four ag classes offered by the high school are counted as a science credit," related McNutt.

Miller and McNutt felt the Conrad Weiser students would benefit from more science class options as well.

With their problems defined, the two ag teachers developed a proposal that they put before the school board late last year. The school board approved the proposal. "The administrators and school board were looking at numbers, too. They didn't want the ag program to decline either," stated Miller.

The final proposal was a result of the combined efforts of the administration, state program specilists, ag instructors, and adult and secondary advisory committees.

The six-part proposal began with the stipulation that the core ag program in agri-science and -mechanics would continue through the end of the next school year. Changes would be instituted as of the 1990-1991 school year.

The proposal would establish a new science course, biotechnology, for juniors and seniors. The course would consist of four lectures per week in the biology classroom with a double-period lab taught in the ag rooms. This arrangement is similar to current chemistry and biology classes.

Through study on topics such as food science, tissue culturing, embryo transfer, soil microbes, cloning, plant growth regulators, biospheres, hydroponics, and closed-environment agriculture, the class will identify career opportunities. Guest lecturers would replace field trips.

Also to be established would be an eighth grade course, science and technology. The class would expose students to career opportunities and provide them with hands-on experience in areas such as small-gas engines, electricity, horticulture, ag mechanics, insects, production animals, metal technology, and home maintenance and repair.

"Every elective course in this school (Conrad Weiser) has a required elective course in junior high," said McNutt. "The students see the teacher and the class. We want to familiarize junior high school students with agricultural classes."

Ag awareness also would be furthered through an Ag-In-The-Classroom program, which targets fifth graders and secondary students and introduces them to the agricultural industry. Ag-In-The-Classroom for secondary students is a by-invitation program.

The proposal includes a stipulation that the ninth-grade ag science and biotechnology classes meet the PDE Chapter 5 and 6 curriculum requirements, which means that students taking these classes would be available for vocational funding and membership in FFA. Miller and McNutt particularly are interested in retaining an FFA chapter "because FFA develops leadership skills," said Miller.

In order to establish these new classes, the last part of the proposal provides for an end of the Conrad Weiser Area Adult Farmer Program. This would free up McNutt to teach the classes. The adult farmer program will be dissolved as of August 31, 1989.

McNutt put this to a vote before the members of the adult farmer program. They unanimously agreed to its dissolution.

"The members agreed that it is more important that we have agricultural literacy in grades kindergarten to 12 at this time," explained McNutt. "That is our first priority."

"We need a higher education level in all people on agriculture and what it means to their lifestyles," he added.

High schools such as Conrad Weiser are taking the first step in bringing agricultural awareness to all people.

MMI Returns $2 Million To Members

STRONGSVILLE, OH — Milk Marketing Inc. (MMI), the regional dairy farmer owned cooperative, returned more than $2 million to its members as part of its equity redemption program. The announcement was made by Don Schriver, director of member relations and public affairs.

The payment, sent to members in December, reflects the equity that members acquired in the Association by the end of 1978.

The return of equity to members is determined on a revolving basis by the board of directors. This redemption of member equity currently is made on a 10-year rotation, therefore, money allocated in 1978 is returned in 1988. Each year the MMI board of directors determines the payment of redemptions.

"The merger that formed MMI occurred in 1978, so this is the first equity redemption returned to the original MMI members," he said.

Previously, equity checks were sent to the members of the five predecessor cooperatives that now compose MMI: Wayne Cooperative Milk Producers Association; Central Ohio Cooperative Milk Producers; Miami Valley Cooperative Milk Producers; and Cincinnati Cooperative Milk Sales Association, Inc.

In December of 1987, MMI completed its ten-year goal of returning $18 million to the members of these five predecessor organizations.

MMI is a 7,000 member dairy farmer owned cooperative encompassing an eight state midwestern area including Ohio, Indiana, Pennsylvania, Michigan, New York, Kentucky, Maryland and West Virginia. Last year MMI marketed more than 4.1 billion pounds or 475 million gallons of milk.

front of marketing in both domestic and foreign sales.

The meeting was held at the Savoy Restaurant January 14.

Jaye C. Young, Junior Club Advisor, presented Junior members with awards for milk and fat for milk records completed in the last year.

The two-year-old winner for both milk and fat was Dar-View Basic Patty, owned by Mike Daugherty of Greencastle. Patty produced 24,074 pounds of milk and 856 pounds of fat with a 3.6 percent test in 305 days.

Another of Daugherty's cows, Dar-View Rebel Penny, was the top three-year-old milk producer. At three years and three months she made 27,706 pounds of milk and 958 pounds of fat, with a 3.5 percent test.

Top three-year-old fat producer was Aldina Bootmaker Shannon, who produced 977 pounds of fat at three years and eight months. She had a 4.2 percent test and is owned by Beverly Meyers of Chambersburg.

In the four-year-old division, Melwood Naomi Jason Lark produced the most milk at 28,420 pounds at four years and one month. She is owned by Daugherty. She also produced 928 pounds of fat and had a 3.3 percent test.

High fat producer was Ro-Meyer Heavenly Haven Harmony, owned by Toby Horsh of St. Thomas. At four years and seven months, Harmony produced 1074 pounds of fat and 26,207 pounds of milk with a 4.1 percent test.

In the five-years-and-older division, Hall-A-Way Esther was named top milk producer with 23,114 pounds of milk and 877 pounds of fat at seven years and two months. She had a 3.8 percent test and is owned by William Hall of Shippensburg.

Top fat producer was Windy Knoll View Very Shannon owned by Beverly Meyers. At five years and eight months she produced 21,894 pounds of milk and 928 pounds of fat and had a 4.2 percent test.

The club also recognized its members who won 1988 All-Pennsylvania Awards.

The high registered cow for milk in the county was Hollendale Starfire, owned by R.V. and S.V. Hollenshead of Mercersburg. In her fourth lactation, Starfire produced 34,041 pounds of milk and 1103 pounds of fat.

High registered cow for fat was Melody-Lawn Spirit Jeddy, owned by C. Glenn Daugherty of Greencastle. Jeddy produced 30,893 pounds of milk and 1262 pounds of fat, for a 4.1 percent test in her third lactation. She scored 88 points in February.

Two Franklin County farms have been designated 1988 PBR Award winners by the National Holstein Association in Brattleboro, VT. Oakleigh Farms, owned by brothers John and Ed Brake of Mercersburg, received the honor for the fourth year. Wayne Hall of Hall-A-Way Farm, Shippensburg, won the award for the first time. Minimum requirements for qualifying for the award are: be on DHIR; have a 21,727 pound lactation average, with 777 pounds of fat; have a BAA of 103.4; be in good standing with the state and national associations; have a minimum of 20 animals; and have 75 percent of them carrying the owner's prefix.

Holstein Club junior members Bev Meyers, William Hall and Mike Daugherty received awards for their cows' top milk and fat production in the club.

1988 Junior All-Pennsylvania Award winners were: (back) Jamie Hartman, Bev Meyers; (front) William Hall and Amy Hartman. Toby Horsh and Thomas Eckstine also earned Junior All-Pennsylvania Awards, but were not present for the picture.

Dale Lehman (left) of Chambersburg, Brad Beldel (center) of Newburg, and Gerald J. Reichard (right) of Waynesboro were elected to the Franklin County Holstein Club's Board of Directors. Also elected was Roy Cordell of Chambersburg.

Gill said that ticket sales to industry have been brisk and that legislative response has been positive. Legislators receive complimentary tickets, and each legislator attending the dinner takes home a gift basket of Pennsylvania-processed foods illustrating the diversity of the state's food and fiber industry.

Although the Council is waiting speaker confirmation, Gill said that an invitation has been made to a member of the Pennsylvania Congressional delegation. The proposed topic is agriculture and the Bush Administration.

Tickets may be purchased for $30 until January 25; after that date, the ticket price increases to $35. Each advance ticket holder will have a pre-assigned table. For ticket information, call 717-232-7232.

The Pennsylvania State Council of Farm Organizations is comprised of nearly 70 agricultural-related groups, organizations, and businesses. Its purpose is to promote the Commonwealth's number one industry and to develop consensus of agricultural issues coming before the legislature, including the agricultural budget.

Lindenhof's Xenia Named Lancaster's Top Guernsey

BY PAT PURCELL

LAMPETER (Lancaster) — Lindenhof Bonus J. Tele Xenia topped the Lancaster County Guernsey Breeders Association's awards for their annual meeting scheduled for last night, January 20, at the Lampeter Fire Hall.

Bonus, the 2-year-old owned by Axel Linde and Millie Widmann, produced 24,000 pounds of milk in 305 days of lactation with 3.6 percent fat test and 866 pounds of butterfat.

Second in milk production was Willows Elective Dancer at 20,790 pounds of milk with 4.0 percent butterfat. Dancer is owned by Jar Garber.

from higher prices. On Monday farmers reported receiving up to $1.33 per pound, about $.04 less than auction prices.

"For the first-time in auction history, farmers were receiving better prices in the auction than in private treaties," exclaimed Probst.

Approximately 1.5 million pounds have passed through Paradise Tobacco Auction before heading south for processing. Probst estimates that about the same amount should go through auction doors before the close of the season, which will be around the end of February.

High prices should translate into increased acreage for next year, according to Probst. This year farmers planted about 5 million acres of tobacco.

captured the supreme dairy champion banner.

The press release from the Farm Show office read "Farm Show history was made today as $1,000 was paid to the winner of a new category in judging competition, the Supreme Champion of Dairy Cattle." Without looking through 33-years of Pennsylvania State Farm Show coverage in the Lancaster Farming archives, it appears Farm Show history was made nine years ago.

Northeast Dairy Farm Beautification Program Seeks Dairies

(SYRACUSE) — Recognition, encouragement, pride, gratitude — ask any of the Northeast's 623 Dairy of Distinction Winners in New York, Pennsylvania or New Jersey what the farm beautification program means to them and these are the words you will hear.

The Northeast Dairy Farm Beautification Program wants to remind all dairy farmers that it is time to be thinking about sprucing up those barns and fences and applying for the Dairy of Distinction Award.

The Dairy of Distinction Program is based on the concept that attractive farmsteads enhance consumer confidence in the dairy industry. The award also recognizes hard work and efforts of Northeast dairy farmers.

"This grassroots recognition has been the key to the program," said Northeast Dairy Farm Beautification Program President William Underwood, a dairy farmer from Tully, NY. "This is one way dairy farmers can directly promote their industry. Honoring these farmers says 'thank you,' and by promoting this program we can encourage other farmers to do the same."

Dairy farmers interested in winning the attractive, multi-colored 18" x 24" Dairy of Distinction sign will be judged on roadside appearance of buildings, grounds and surroundings in May. Winning farms also are re-judged every year to ensure they maintain the excellent standards required for the award.

Applications must be submitted to the following by April 15: in New York — Evelyn Lightfoote, 3053 Depew Road, Stanley, NY 14561; in Pennsylvania — Paul Nichols, ADADC, 1853 E. Third Street, Williamsport, PA 17701; in New Jersey — August Knispel, RD 1, Box 325, Pittstown, NJ 08867.

Pennsylvania Goats Compete For Top Honors

HARRISBURG — On the last day of Farm Show competition, 189 does from 38 different herds ambled around the large arena. In the end, GCH Rockspring Light Snick Carmel, following last year's pattern was named Best In Show.

The Toggenburg goat belongs to Ann J. Miller, a Furlong breeder of Toggenburgs and LaManchas for approximately 30 years. Miller, who had the 1983 national LaMancha champion, has been a consistent winner in the seven years of Farm Show competition. In fact, a Rockspring doe has been named Best In Show for all seven years.

Lorraine Yankovich of Emmaus, Lehigh County, exhibited the Nubian grand champion doe, reserve champion doe and best herd at Farm Show competition in dairy goat judging.

Jasper Hollow Flashy Paisley, a yearling doe, captured grand champion honors and her cousin Jasper Hollow Kibonzai Sushi, was the reserve grand champion of the show.

"We thought this was a good show this year, with a lot of competition in the Nubian class. We'll be back next year as long as it's a one-day show," Yankovich said.

Last year she also exhibited the grand champion, reserve grand champion and best herd.

Yankovich has been breeding and raising dairy goats for seven years on Jasper Hollow Farm. "I'm allergic to cow's milk and my husband gave me my first goat for my birthday. I just love them, and now have six does and one buck."

She thinks as more people become acquainted with goats milk through cheeses, they are realizing that goats are clean, affectionate and sweet-tempered animals, making good pets. A lot of goats in Pennsylvania are on the official DHIA list for production records, including Lorraine's proven all-star milkers. A veterinarian's office is a good source of information for someone interested in obtaining goats, Yankovich said.

Nancy Trimer of Alexandria, Huntingdon County, exhibited the grand champion, Walnut Bottom Artemis, a five-year-old doe in the Saneen competition. She also exhibited the junior champion and reserve junior champion.

Her Farm Crossing Dairy Goats exhibited entries in Toggenburg, Nubians, LaManchas and Recorded Grades (animals being bred up, but not fully bred).

Her daughter Lea Kile said, "We brought 14 animals and they all got ribbons! We have 35 animals at home and when they start to freshen this spring we expect more than 50. We keep some does and sell some others; we'll likely sell all the buck kids. We use the milk on the farm and feed it to the pigs and veal calves. We milk about 15-20 goats, each giving 10-12 pounds a day."

Anne and Fred Leader of Wells-ville, York County took top honors in the Alpine Dairy Goat Show. Their doe, Alison, won both grand champion and reserve grand champion.

The couple has a herd of 16 Alpine goats and also raise steers which they feed the excess milk. The dairy goats are milked twice a day—every day. Anne describes it as "a routine that you get used to".

In addition to drinking the goats milk, they have also used it to supplement the diet of puppies and it is used in cheeses and candy. Goats milk has roughly the same percentage of fat as cows milk, 4 percent, the particles of fat in goats milk are smaller—that's what makes it easier to digest.

Fred and Anne have been raising goats since they bought their farm in 1980. Fred describes raising goats as "a hobby that gives a lot of satisfaction".

The couple says "All dairy goats are super. We have Alpine goats because that's what we started out with. Goats are all fairly hardy and are very people oriented. No one should get just one goat unless there are other animals for the goat to bond with, a horse for instance." Goats are often used a stable mates for horses which are calmed by the companionship.

MMI Looking For A Few Good Men And Women

STRONGSVILLE, OH — "We're looking for a few good men and women."

No. This isn't an advertisement for the armed forces.

It is, however, an enticing bid for all Milk Marketing Inc. (MMI) young dairy producers, age 20 to 35, to attend one of the regional Young Cooperator (YC) gatherings being held this January throughout MMI's eight-state area. Employees of MMI producers are also eligible to attend the YC meetings.

The program promises to provide vital industry information as well as camaraderie, good food and hospitable accommodations.

This year's program is better than ever, says Bill Hardesty, YC coordinator and MMI manager of member services. Seven conferences -- two daytime and five overnight meetings -- have been designed to accommodate different producer schedules.

Young Cooperators Regional Sessions

Overnight meetings:
January 23-24: Sheraton Inn;

Shenango, Pennsylvania (just east of Youngstown, Ohio).

January 25-26: Pokagon State Park; Angola, Indiana.

January 30-31: Holiday Inn; Mansfield, Ohio.

"Last year we experimented with some larger, overnight meetings. They were a big hit," says Hardesty. "Feedback from MMI YCers indicated that they appreciated and wanted the two-day meetings because the program built into its schedule relaxation, recreation and a little peace and quiet, as well as educational sessions. That time away from the farm is precious to our producers. So the YC program has been altered to suit our OCs' needs."

Hardesty notes that the program content is geared toward the future with a primary focus on the co-op experience itself.

"Our Young Cooperators form MMI's future leadership base. Some of today's young producers may be tomorrow's leaders in the dairy industry. MMI's YC program recognizes that and attempts to provide them with some of the background information and leadership skills they will need to meet those future challenges," says Hardesty.

All educational meetings are packed with marketing, legislative and co-op information.

MMI specialists in the field of member services, legislation and marketing will be on hand to answer questions. The YC program includes Bill Hardesty, manager of member services; Bill Perry, manager of governmental affairs; Rod Carlson, director of member service and marketing; Don Schriver, director of member relations and public affairs; and advertising and promotional representatives from Mid East United Dairy Industry Association.

Past winners of national YC trips to the annual meetings of the American Institute of Cooperation and National Milk Producers Federation will also be on hand to relay their experiences as co-op representatives at national industry meetings.

Hardesty reminds MMI young producers that they can attend at any of the locations. Advance notice is required for the overnight sessions which begin on the first day at 2 p.m. Only a $5 per person advance registration fee is required. All other expenses (room, meals, materials, etc.) are paid by MMI.

Daytime meetings are scheduled from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. There is no registration fee charged, however, please contact the local MMI field representative or Bill Hardesty if planning to attend.

For more information about the Young Cooperator regional sessions, contact Bill Hardesty at the Strongsville office: toll free -- 1-800-362-6776 (in Ohio); 1-800-362-6787 (out of Ohio).

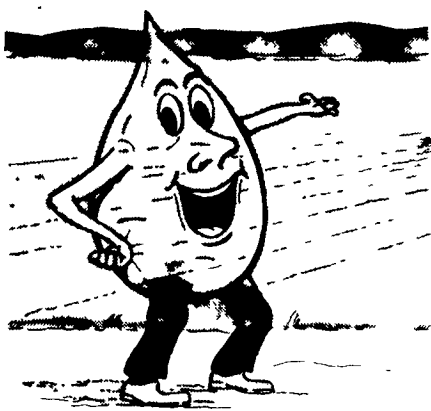

MMI is a 7,000-member dairy farmer owned cooperative encompassing an eight state midwestern area including Ohio, Pennsylvania, Michigan, New York, Kentucky, Maryland and West Virginia. Last year MMI marketed more than 4.1 billion pounds or 475 million gallons of milk.

said has been accepted nationwide, also addressed the subject of vaccination. The percent of calves vaccinated for various diseases were:

Brucellosis	71.1
IBR	57.3
Lepto	32.8
BVD	28.9
PI	39.1

Of BVD and PI, Heinrichs said, "We had counties with zero percent in these categories."

On the topic of reproduction management, the weight at which heifers were bred for the first time was 775 pounds, which Heinrichs said was about right. The age at which they were bred, however, was 15.9 months, which Heinrichs called a problem.

Twenty-one percent of the farms had 12 percent of their calves born dead. Additionally, 13 percent of their calves died before the age of one year. "One to two percent calf mortality is great," Heinrichs said.

Surveyed farmers were also asked if they washed cows' udders before feeding colostrum to a newborn calf. Sixty two percent of the good calf managers washed udders, while fifty percent of the poor calf managers did.

Heinrichs said that only one out of four calves gets enough colos-trum, and only two out of three get any at all. He encouraged the use of frozen colostrum, which was used by 30 percent of the good calf managers and 16.7 percent of the poor calf managers.

Reduce Calf Mortality

Items important in reducing calf mortality are washing the cow's udder; hand feeding the first colostrum from a bottle or bucket; using frozen colostrum when necessary; the timing, quality and quantity of the colostrum feeding; and having clean maternity pens.

Calf mortality is also influenced by the person taking care of the calf. Calves taken care of by the farm wife showed the lowest mortality, followed by those taken care of by the children. Calves cared for by hired labor showed the highest mortality.

According to the survey, ventilation efficiency also correlates with calf mortality. The best housing for calves are hutches or calf condos.

Heinrichs also cited a survey done on DHIA records in Butler and Indiana Counties to find dairymen in a four-year calf-and-heifer program. These dairymen were able to lower their high average age at first calving, lower calf mortality, and increase milk production.

"You can reduce calf mortality by working at it," Heinrichs said. "If you aren't satisfied with your heifer raising, with a little work and not much money you can do a better job," he added.

In his second talk, "Growth Standards for Use in Calf and Heifer Management," Heinrichs addressed some of the specifics of raising young stock.

"The largest cost on a farm is feed," Heinrichs said. "Often the second highest cost on a dairy farm is raising the replacement heifers."

In Pennsylvania, on an average farm with 50 cows and a 30 percent culling rate, the cost per year for raising replacements is $12,000-$18,000. "It's an expensive enterprise, and it deserves monitoring," Heinrichs said.

Save $$$-

Cut Calving Age

Increased age at calving costs the farmer $50-$80 per heifer per month beyond 24 months of age. The average age at first calving in Pennsylvania is 26.7 months.

While some farmers believe older heifers produce more milk, Heinrichs said this is not true after 26 months of age. Between months 24 and 25, the heifer produces about 200 pounds more milk, which is not enough to be economical.

Heinrichs recommended looking at the growth rates of heifers by weighing and measuring them several times during their lifetime.

Calves are often at the right height and weight after weaning at 4-6 months, then stop growing for 1-3 months.

"The farmer dumps them into a freestall on TMR and wonders why they don't grow," Heinrichs said. "They are not fully functioning ruminants. We need to focus on this group. They don't catch up what they lose there -- they're always 2-3 months behind. That's why the average age of calving is high."

The next big problem in a heifer's life is after she is bred. "Once they're bred, they're often moved elsewhere, where heifer management is, 'Go out on the three-wheeler and count them once a day,'" Heinrichs said.

Poor growth rates in calves under 6 months of age can be caused by:

- Low intake of liquid feed
- Diluted milk or milk replacer
- Low nutritional content of grain mixture
- Poorly chopped grain in grower feeds
- Improper age when forage and grain offered
- Improper types of forage fed
- Low actual intake of forage and grain

Water availability and quality

Health problems -- scours, coccidiosis, worms, etc.

Poor growth rates in older heifers can be caused by:

- Lack of forage intake and quality
- Water -- availability and quality

Poorly balanced rations

Health problems -- parasites, coccidiosis, etc.

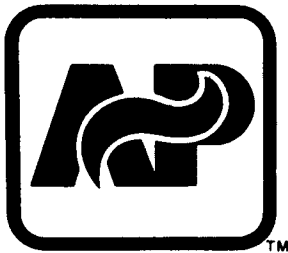

"Get your feed person to balance your heifer rations, also," Heinrichs advised. "It won't cost you any more."

He also suggested weighing calves and heifers at intervals to see if they are gaining as they should. Larger breeds should gain 1.7 pounds per day, while the smaller breeds should gain 1.4 pounds per day.

anything in the dairy industry in recent years," Muller said while holding up a small vial of the white powder. "Sometime in the next one to two years, a company may have this product on the market. You will have to seek advice."

Muller said that he is not for or against somatotrophin, but that his role as an educator is to present the facts.

One misconception that Muller addressed is that bovine somatotrophin, or BST, is bovine growth hormone. It is actually recombinant bovine somatotrophin, and is naturally produced by the pituitary gland and consists of amino acids. Its function is to coordinate how energy from feed is used.

Higher-producing cows naturally secrete more BST from their pituitaries. The role of BST in growth and lactation was discovered in the 1930's and 1940's. At that time, BST injections were used to increase milk production, and this was seen as a method to alleviate the food shortage in Great Britain during World War II. The supply was limited, however, because it could not be produced synthetically.

In 1970, BST's molecular weight and structure were reported, and in the late 1970's the technology was developed to produce it. Several major drug companies are currently racing to be the first to market BST, Muller said.

Muller presented the farmers with a perspective on technology, saying that concern over emerging technology is not new, and that the adoption of new technology over the years has not been problem-free. He cited DHIA records, AI, nutrition, milking equipment, and embryo transfers as things that were once considered "new technology" and have increased production and reduced labor for the farmer. "You wouldn't be in this room if you hadn't adopted some new technology in the last ten or fifteen years," he reminded farmers.

Consumers have also enjoyed the benefits of these technologies, because farmers are thereby able to produce a high quality product at a low cost.

Muller stated that with BST injections, the amount of BST naturally present in milk is not increased. The fat, protein and mineral content of milk is not altered. No BST residue occurs in meat, either, Muller said.

"The real winner may be in the consumer," Muller said. "The average American spends 15 percent of his income for food, and new technology may decrease this." He cited statistics saying that 75 percent of Americans support genetic engineering. Eighty percent of conservatives endorse biotechnology if it increases the food supply, he added.

"You need to have an above average herd to benefit from BST," Muller said. He encouraged dairymen to be concerned about the situation, but not to over react; to assess the situation, and to evaluate the information and facts.

"Successful dairymen in the future will apply technology with sound production and financial management," Muller concluded.

Footnotes:

1. The disease ratings for competitive varieties were checked against the "Alfalfa Variety" article which appeared in the November 1978 issue of the Hay and Forage Grower magazine. The ratings for PRO-CUT are shown as presented for the Plant Variety Protection Certificate and as presented to the Alfalfa Variety Review Board.
HR = Highly Resistant
MR = Moderately Resistant
LR = Low Resistant
R = Resistant
S = Susceptible

2. The Disease Rating Index is a cumulative measure of a variety's disease resistance to the five diseases listed. For each disease that a variety is Highly Resistant to, it receives a rating of 5, Resistant to a 4, Moderately Resistant to a 3, Low Resistant to a 2 and Susceptible to a 1 rating. The ratings are then added to determine the Disease Rating Index. A total of 25 would be ideal. The varieties in the chart with a — shown for a particular disease were tabulated as a 1.

3. The Insect Ratings were taken from the same sources as described in footnote 2.

INTRODUCING

A Kawasaki engine with a float carburetor specially designed for a wash machine. The FA76 engine has performed very well for us since they were introduced in 1984 but we have found to obtain the first pull easy starting we needed a float carburetor which is the reason for this special engine.

Kawasaki
FA76D
 76cc • 1.7 hp

FEATURING

- 1.7 hp Ample power for wash machines
- Float carburetor for easier starting
- Weighs only 16 lbs. - Runs washer quietly with minimum vibration. Almost comparable with electric. Saves casters and machine wear.
- Electronic ignition for sure starting when wet.
- Automatic compression release makes it the easiest pulling engine on the market.
- Low oil shutdown stops engine when oil is low.
- Long life cylinder and replaceable crankshaft bearings make it a long lasting rebuildable engine.

Special Pre-Delivery Introductory Price

$189.00 postpaid

Engines will be shipped to you around March 3rd. Place your order before February 25th to get them at above price.

The feed bin is the very heart of any feeding system. If the bin lets you down, the system quits.

That's why we put so many quality features into our complete line of feed bins - which includes 6-foot diameter steel or polyethylene (great for H.M. corn), 6-foot, 7-foot, and 9-foot models. All are available in several capacities - so you have a wide selection of bins to fit your needs.

Here are just a few of the quality features that make our bins such an outstanding buy:

- Sturdy Ladder System
- All Bin Seams Are Double Caulked
- Choice of 16 or 25 Inch Hopper Opening
- All Galvanized Steel Parts

Leola Man Receives Local Pork Producers Award

BY LISA RISSE

BLUE BALL (Lancaster) — Floyd Huber of Leola was honored by his fellow members of the Lancaster Swine Producers Association Thursday night when they presented him with the James E. Martin award.

The award, which is presented to an outstanding young member of the association, now carries an added honor. The recipient will serve on the state Pork Council and take part in promotional activities. In addition he will represent the group in the selection of a state participant in the Pork Leadership Institute.

The Institute is a new national program sponsored by the National Pork Producers Council, and it will identify and train young men and women for future leadership roles in the pork industry. Each pork-producing state will send a representative to the Institute, which includes a five-day educational trip this summer to Des Moines, Iowa, and Washington, D.C.

The Institute replaces the national Pork Industry King program.

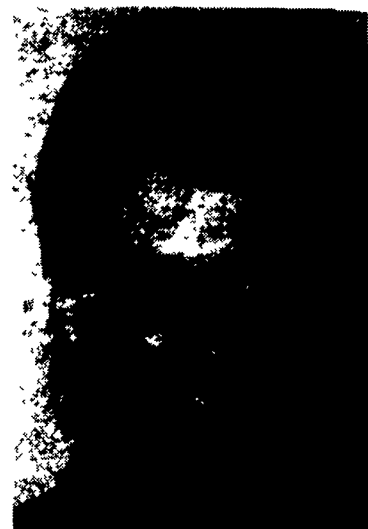

Huber, 20, currently works for White Oak Mills as a manager of Jonas S. King's 200-sow farrowto-feeder hog operation in Gordonville. He is a 1986 graduate of Garden Spot High School, and in that same year, he received the James E. Martin award. In addition Huber is a member of the group's board of directors.

In other business, the organization re-elected two board members, Ronald Butt and Ray Martin, and elected John Meck to the board. Members enjoyed a home-style meal at the Blue Ball Fire Hall after which they viewed a short film on the favorable results of last year's pork promotion campaign and were entertained by magician Jay Stoltzfus.

John Meck is the newest member of the Board of Directors.

All-aluminum, insulated inlet baffle allows exact control of incoming air.

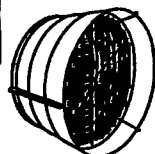

Fans are the most noticeable part of a ventilation system. But the air inlets are no less important and must be properly adjusted to maintain good air distribution as the rate of airflow varies. Aerovent's Aero-Baffle is specifically designed to meet this need in confinement buildings.

The Aero-Baffle hinge section is designed for trouble free operation, even in the most adverse conditions. The hinge allows infinite adjustment of the baffle from "full closed," against the ceiling, to "full open," against the sidewall.

Multi-County Dairy Day Planned

MIDDLEBURG (Snyder) — Farmers from near and far are invited to a DAIRY DAY on January 24, 9:00 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. at the Christ Community United Methodist Church in Hummels Wharf, PA. Penn State Cooperative Extension is sponsoring this educational meeting in Snyder County in cooperation with area dairy suppliers.

The program includes Dr. Michael Hutjens, an Extension Dairyman from the University of Illinois. Dr. Hutjens is nationally known for his expertise in the area of dairy nutrition. Feed, purchased and home grown, is always the single largest expense in producing milk and this year with tight supplies and increased prices, alternatives and better management are critical. Dr. Hutjens will talk about specific things you can do to improve your feeding situation.

Thomas Jurchak, County Extension Agent from Lackawanna County, has made a name for himself in the very complicated subject of milk marketing. His column appears monthly in the farm press. His insights as to what you can do to help yourself will be welcome.

Phil Durst, County Extension Agent from Snyder County, will speak on manure management. Ground water quality is emerging as the agriculture issue in government and manure and fertilizer are drawing the heat. Manure management is not simply a good-for-somebody-else issue, rather it can lower input costs for crop production on your farm.

Come with your questions. Come prepared to hear specific steps you can take to meet your goals. Come and talk with dairy suppliers and with many other farmers. Come if you are interested in learning, improving, and becoming better in a business that gets tougher all the time.

Call Phil Durst at the Snyder County Extension Office (717-837-4252) or contact your county Extension agent for a reservation.

Muncy-Chief H200 and H300 Brand Alfalfa is winter hardy alfalfa suited to New York, Pennsylvania, New Jersey and the New England States. Muncy-Chief H300 is adapted for all regions in the northeast and will give many years of productivity. Muncy-Chief Acclaim is recommended for acres of central Pennsylvania south and Maryland, Delaware & Virginia. Muncy-Chief Alfalfa contains excellent levels of resistance to the pest that rob growers in these regions of yield and stand persistence such as Phytophthora root rot, Anthracnose Verticillium Wilt, Bacterial Wilt, and the Crown Rot complex. Muncy-Chief high yielding alfalfa with an excellent leaf to fine stem ration will provide high yields and high quality forage to alfalfa growers and is persistent in long rotations.

From Sheep To Shawl: The Wool Wizards Receive Record Price

Franklin Co. Correspondent
HARRISBURG — A peach, persimmon and paprika-colored shawl produced in 107 minutes earned $1,600 for the Wool Wizards of Dauphin County in the Sheep to Shawl competition at the Farm Show January 11.

Darryl and Bev Breniser of M.H. Eby, which manufactures trailers in Blue Ball, purchased the championship shawl before a large crowd in the Small Arena. The price established a new record for the competition, easily surpassing last year's price of $1,250.

The Wool Wizards, a team of five sheep and wool enthusiasts, also received a plaque, a travelling trophy, rosettes, and a $158 premium.

The Wool Bags, a team from Indiana and Jefferson Counties who were last year's champions, received Reserve Champion honors. Their Dogwood lace weave shawl was the first one finished, completed only 92 minutes after the start of the contest. It sold for $900 to Ray Hillard of Juniata County, representing American Livestock Pre-Mixes.

New awards this year were the Best Fleece Award, won by the Butler County Pedalers; the Best Shearer Award, won by Jim Shearer of the Bobbin Bunch team; the Spinner's Award, won by Carolyn Peyser, Mary Hubler and Kathy Graham of the Wool Wizards; and the Weaver's Award, won by Alice Gillespie of

Thomas Knisely of Dover was the Wool Wizard's weaver.

Second place team was the Wool Bags of Indiana and Jefferson County. Pictured with them is the purchaser of their shawl, Ray Hillard, representing American Livestock Pre-mixes. He paid $900 for the old dogwood lace-weave shawl.

Barbara Barlow spun diligently for the Hill and Hollow Handspinners of Huntingdon County.

From Sheep To Shawl

the Bobbin Bunch.

The Team's Choice Award, in which all team members vote for their favorite shawl, went to the Butler County Pedalers.

The Sheep to Shawl competition was established in 1981 and consistently attracts large crowds. The purpose of the event is to promote wool, Pennsylvania's sheep industry, and to provide a competition for regional craftspeople. It is co-sponsored by the PA Department of Agriculture, the PA Sheep and Wool Growers Association, and the Pennsylvania Farm Products Show Commission.

This year, nine teams competed. A tenth team, the Cottontail Twisters, provided a spinning and weaving demonstration and allowed children from the audience to try their hand at spinning. The Cottontail Twisters are five 4-H members who raise rabbits. They received an Honorable Mention award.

Judges for the contest were Sue Beevers of Longview Farm Spinning and Weaving, Ltd. of Clinton, NY; Linda Berry Walker of Woods Edge Wools, Stockton, NJ; and Carol J. Woolcock of the Mannings Handweaving Studio, East Berlin, PA.

Teams were judged on shearing ability, spinning quality, uniqueness of design, weaving ability, and team identification.

From left: Judges Sue Beevers, Linda Berry Walker, and Carol Woolcock confer on placings for the Sheep to Shawl contest.

On being a farm wife - And other hazards

Joyce Bupp

Remember all those things your Mom told you to do when you were a little kid because they were "good for you"?

Eat your spinach. Drink your milk. Wash behind your ears. Change your underwear every day. And even though, deep in your heart you knew she was right, you vowed to hate every minute of it.

So you declared, "When I grow up, I'm going to do whatever I please." Right?

So here we are, all grown up, and along comes this advice that reached out from a newspaper page and took hold of my conscience - and shook it real good - a few days ago.

The directive was to do two things every day that you really don't want to do, for your soul's sake - strengthens your character and all that.

Initially, I couldn't pinpoint too many ordinary, routine things of such distasteful nature until I'd thought about it for awhile.

Then while searching for something in the refrigerator, the thought occurred that here was a job that fit the bill perfectly. Who likes cleaning out the refrigerator, anyway? No one I know.

All those little containers of left-over hey, anybody know what this fuzzy green stuff is in the yellow dish? Or how about this jar with white mold? And then there's the inevitable plastic bag tucked in the back of the vegetable drawer with a forgotten chunk of badly-aged cabbage. Yuk. Character strengthening? If you have a strong stomach.

Balancing the checkbook probably fits in the same category of soothing my soul. Also the bank's. It takes no deep psychological delving to assess why I dread playing "checkbook solitaire", the sorting and accounting for checks returned and outstanding with what I have left compared to the bank's figure.

See, a couple of times in the middle of a time crunch, my mathematical accuracy has suffered. So, in spite of balancing, and rebalancing frequently on the checkbook stubs, I still dread tackling this task. But, when the figures all come out, it feels just like the sun bursting through a dreary day.

Breaking down a new section of hay or straw in the barn is likewise faced with dread. Usually the men tackle this one, but on occasion, there has been just me and a 20-foot-high clifflike face of tightly-tied bundles of hay.

Trying to yank one loose from the lower layers may be successful, but jeopardizes the stability of all those tons of bales towering above your head. Scaling the side to get to the top, however, puts you in peril of loosening the whole face of the stack, and having it tumble front when you're about halfway up.

Faced with such prospects, the best alternative is to swipe a couple of bales from some other feeding area.

Mending blue jeans is another character builder, one of those jobs you do out of love and budget-watching but under pressure from a buried sewing machine and empty clothing drawers.

Most of the dreaded jobs are related to cleaning of some sort. While doing them may be good for the soul, they hardly last long enough for you to sit back and bask in the sunshiny glow of accomplishment.

Washing floors, for instance. Cleaning the oven (sometimes I forget to be properly appreciative of a self-cleaning oven). Vacuuming the automobile's carpet, home to the world's most complete collection of itty-bitty pieces of sand, gravel, stones, straw bits and pulverized flakes of dried manure. Pulling weeds. And, bringing order to the attic.

Sooner or later, all these tasks whose doing are "good for you" do get tackled. I hope my soul appreciates the efforts.

A Handful Of "Bran" New Recipes

Health and good nutrition are on everyone's minds today. Of particular concern is cholesterol, thought to be a leading cause of heart attacks. One of the most recent medical discoveries is that bran, specifically oat bran, helps combat the type of cholesterol that clogs arteries. Bran also aids the digestive system by contributing fiber to the diet.

Bran comes mostly as flakes or nuggets to be used as is or soaked in water to soften. If a recipe calls for a finer texture, flakes can be crushed and nuggets ground in a blender or food processor.

It can be substituted for bread crumbs in meatloaves or coatings or flour in breads, pastries, cakes, and muffins.

A tasty way to use bran, suggests one reader, is to sprinkle it over fruit, cottage cheese, or yogurt.

Below are several recipes you'll want to add to your collection.

MINIATURE MEATLOAVES

- 1 egg white
- 1 pound lean ground beef
- ½ cup oat bran (for creamy style hot cereal)
- 1 8-ounce can tomato sauce
- 2 tablespoons chopped onion
- 1 tablespoon chopped parsley
- 1 teaspoon leaf thyme, crumbled
- 1 teaspoon chili powder
- ½ teaspoon salt
- ¼ cup water
- 1 garlic clove, finely chopped
- ½ cup shredded reduced-fat cheese

Beat egg whites in large bowl until very foamy. Add beef, oat bran, 1 tablespoon tomato sauce, 1 tablespoon onion, parsley, thyme, chili powder, and salt. Stir to combine. Shape into four individual meatloaves, using about ¼ cup for each. Place in 8-inch square pan. Bake for 20 minutes in 375-degree oven.

After 10 minutes combine remaining tomato sauce, onion, water, and garlic in small saucepan. Bring to boiling, then lower heat and simmer 5 minutes.

Remove pan from oven. Pour tomato sauce over loaves; sprinkle with cheese. Bake five minutes or until cheese is melted.

BRAN MUFFINS

- 1 cup boiling water
- 1½ cups bran
- 2 eggs
- 1½ cups or less sugar
- ½ cup vegetable oil
- 1 pint buttermilk
- 2 cups white flour
- ½ cup whole wheat flour
- 2½ tablespoons baking soda
- 1 teaspoon salt

Pour boiling water over 1½ cups bran and let sit. Mix eggs, sugar, and oil together. Add buttermilk and mix. Sift and add remaining ingredients. Stir in bran mixture. Blueberries, raisins, or dates may be added at this time. Bake in 400-degree oven for 20 minutes or until done.

APPLE-RAISIN OAT BRAN CEREAL

- 1 cup apple juice
- 1 cup skim milk
- ¼ cup currants or raisins
- 1 teaspoon light brown sugar
- ¼ teaspoon salt (optional)
- ½ cup uncooked oat bran for creamy style hot cereal

Combine apple juice, skim milk, currants, sugar, and salt in medium-sized saucepan. Bring to boiling. Gradually stir in oat bran. Lower heat; simmer uncovered for 3 to 5 minutes until thickened. Serves 2.

APPLE MUFFINS

- 1 cup whole wheat flour
- ½ cup uncooked oatmeal
- ½ cup oat bran
- ½ cup honey or ½ cup sugar
- ¾ cup milk
- 3 teaspoons baking powder
- ½ teaspoon salt
- 3 tablespoons oil
- 1 egg
- 1 cup chopped apples

Sift together dry ingredients. Add oil, egg, and milk. Mix until just dampened. Fold in apples. Fill muffin cups ½ full or pour mixture into a loaf pan. Bake in 350-degree oven for 20 minutes.

If desired add a topping: ½ cup brown sugar, ½ teaspoon cinnamon, ½ cup chopped nuts.

Bran, once powdered or crushed, makes an ideal coating for foods such as chicken, fish, or pork.

PURE FRUIT COOKIES

- 3 medium-sized bananas, ripe
- ½ cup oil
- 1 teaspoon vanilla
- ¼ teaspoon salt
- 1½ cups rolled oats
- ½ cup oat bran for creamy style hot cereal
- 1½ cups coarsely chopped mixed dried fruits (dates, apples, apricots, raisins)
- ½ cup chopped walnuts or almonds

Preheat oven to 350 degrees. Grease 2 large cookie sheets.

Mash bananas in large bowl until smooth (about 1½ cups). Stir in oil, vanilla, and salt. Add oats, oat bran, mixed fruits, and nuts. Stir well.

Drop by tablespoonful onto cookie sheets about 1-inch apart. Flatten out slightly with the back of the spoon. Bake for 20-25 minutes or until bottom and edges are lightly browned. Transfer to wire rack to cool completely. Store in refrigerator.

juice, strawberries, egg whites, and oil in a bowl or the blender, reserving 12 strawberry halves to place on top of muffins.

Combine with dry ingredients. Prepare muffin pans by greasing or lining with paper cups and fill with batter. Place strawberry halves on top of muffins. Bake for 17 minutes. Makes 12 muffins.

TIP: Empty the whole box of oat bran into a food processor if you have one. Turn it on to run while you are assembling the other ingredients. The bran will be more like flour and the muffins' texture will be finer.

TROPICAL FRUIT CEREAL BARS

- 5 cups whole wheat and bran cereal with tropical fruit
- 1 egg, beaten
- 1 cup sugar
- 1 tablespoon flour
- 1 teaspoon double-acting baking powder
- 1 cup milk
- 1 tablespoon lemon juice

Sprinkle 1 cup of the cereal in bottom of greased 8-inch square pan. Combine remaining 4 cups cereal with other ingredients. Stir until blended. Pour mixture over cereal in pan. Bake at 350 degrees for 30 to 35 minutes. Cool. Cut into bars or squares. Makes 16-20 bars.

Cook's Question Corner

If you are looking for a recipe but can't seem to find it anywhere, send your recipe request to Cook's Question Corner, care of Lancaster Farming, P.O. Box 609, Ephrata, PA 17522. There's no need to send a SASE. If we receive an answer to your question, we will publish it as soon as possible.

Answers to recipe requests should be sent to the same address.

QUESTION - A Fleetwood reader would like a recipe for toaster breakfast pastries. If we do not receive an answer to this request within the next two weeks, we will assume no one knows the answer and drop this request.

QUESTION — A reader from York County wants directions for cooking homemade tripe that will come out snowy white.

QUESTION — Mrs. Eleanor Lesko of Newton, N.J. is looking for a recipe for Kentucky Fried Chicken®.

QUESTION — T.L. Martin of Strasburg requests recipes for homemade yeast made with either pumpkin or hops. She'd also like to know where the recipes came from.

QUESTION — Jane Blymire of Windsor requests a recipe for mashed potato filling.

QUESTION — Mrs. Cyril Cassner of Newburg requests a recipe for scalloped noodles. She believes it contains noodles, chicken and canned soup.

QUESTION — Karen Adams of Hamburg requests ways to use homemade sauerkraut other than with hot dogs or pork.

QUESTION — Adna Hewit of Madison, N.Y. requests a recipe for a two-crust pie made with slices of ripe, red tomatoes. She believes it is an old English recipe.

QUESTION — Charles M. Mark Jr., Englishtown, N.J., writes that when living in Ecuador several years ago, he made a 13-hour bread. He writes, "In the morning after mixing and putting the dough in a pan, it was placed on the roof to rise in the hot sun until evening. Then it was baked in an oven." He has lost the recipe and would appreciate if someone shares it.

QUESTION — A Snyder County reader requests a recipe for soda biscuits. The recipe she wants had appeared years ago on the Arm and Hammer Soda® box.

QUESTION — A Snyder County reader requests a salad recipe that includes carrots and pineapples mixed together.

QUESTION — Tylee Salthorpe of Cream Ridge, N.J., requests a recipe for pumpkin butter.

QUESTION — Sara Piko, E. Berlin, requests a cherry crisp recipe.

QUESTION — Marie Hoshall writes that she appreciated the Christmas Cake recipe that appeared in the December 24 issue. She said the directions were so explicit that she would like the contributor's name to associate with the fine recipe, which she is adding to her collection. The contributor merely signed "A West Virginia reader who likes your B-section." If she reads this, we ask her not to be modest, but to send her name for her cake that she also called 1-2-3-4 cake.

QUESTION — Leonard Nywening Sr. of Campbell Hall, N.Y., would like recipes for parsnips.

QUESTION — Joanne Martin, Stevens, requests recipes for cheeseballs with various ingredients that stay soft when served.

QUESTION — Joanne E. Martin, Stevens, requests a recipe for lasagna that uses uncooked noodles.

Fowl Recipe #1

Dress fowl and allow to cool. Cut in pieces. Boil until meat can be removed from bones; pack meat into clean jars to within 1-inch of top. Add 1 teaspoon salt to each quart jar. Boiled down broth until it's only one-half of the original amount. Add ½ tablespoon of broth to each jar filled with geese meat. Screw on two-piece lid and process jars 180 minutes in hot water bath or in pressure cooker for 60 minutes at 15 pounds pressure or 90 minutes at 10 pounds pressure.

Fowl Recipe #2

Dress fowl and allow to cool. Wash in cold water, cut into pieces or pack whole into clean jars to within 1-inch of top without precooking. Add 1 teaspoon salt to each quart jar. Screw two-piece lid on. Process 180 minutes in hot water bath or in pressure cooker for 60 minutes at 15 pounds pressure or 90 minutes at 10 pounds.

ANSWER - R.G. Kamoda, Monongahela, requested recipes using a farm-dressed stewing hen for chicken noodle soup and chicken and biscuits. Thanks Mary Martin of Annville for the following recipes.

Chicken & Dumplings

- 1 chicken, 1-year-old hen preferred
- 1½ teaspoon salt
- Water to cover
- 2 medium-sized potatoes
- 1 small onion, chopped
- 2 tablespoons parsley, chopped or
- 1 tablespoon dried parsley

Cut chicken into serving pieces. Cover with water and cook slowly until almost tender, about 2 to 2½ hours. Add sliced potatoes, chopped onions, parsley seasoning. Cook 15 more minutes. Add dumplings to boiling broth and meat.

For dumplings:

- 1½ cups flour
- ½ teaspoon salt
- 3 teaspoons baking powder
- 1 egg
- 2 to 3 tablespoons milk

Sift dry ingredients together. Add beaten egg and milk. Stir until well-blended. The dough should be stiff enough to drop from a spoon so that it stays in one lump. Drop dough into boiling broth. Cover tightly and cook 10 more minutes. (Do not peek). Do not uncover until ready to serve.

Chicken Noodle Soup

- 1 chicken
- 2 quarts water or enough to cover meat
- ½ cup chopped celery
- 1 onion, chopped
- Parsley
- ½ to ¾ pound noodles
- Salt and pepper

Cut up chicken in serving pieces. Place in cooker. Add water, celery, onions, parsley. Cook chicken until tender, about 3 hours on low heat, adding more water if necessary. Drain broth from chicken pieces and set aside. Allow chicken to partly cool. Remove meat from bones and cut meat into bite-sized pieces. Meanwhile, boil broth. Add noodles. When noodles are soft, add chicken and simmer a few minutes before serving.

ANSWER — Charles Mark Jr. from Englishtown, N.J. requested a recipe for green tomato relish. Thanks Mrs. Paul Mast, Morgantown, for sending one.

Green Tomato Relish

- 4 cups minced onion
- 4 cups cabbage, finely chopped
- 4 cups tomatoes, pureed
- 12 green peppers, minced
- 6 red sweet peppers
- ½ cup salt
- Grind vegetables using coarse blade. Sprinkle with ½ cup salt. Let stand overnight, rinse and drain.

Syrup:

- 6 cups sugar
- 1 tablespoon celery seed
- 1½ teaspoons tumeric
- 4 cups cider vinegar
- 2 cups water

Combine syrup items and pour over vegetable mixture and simmer 3 minutes after syrup boils. Seal in jars. Yields 8 pints.

Contributor writes that it is good for hotdog and hamburger relish. And it is good in chicken salad, ham salad, potato and macaroni salad.

ANSWER — Lois Segreaves of Asbury, N.Y., requests a recipe for sour dough starter and for bread made from the starter. Editor's Note: Your request reached us two days before these recipes appeared in the January 14 issue of Lancaster Farming on page B 6. Please check. If those recipes are not what you wanted, write again.

"Bran" Recipes

PUMPKIN BRAN MUFFINS

- 1¼ cups flour
- ¾ sugar
- 1 tablespoon baking powder
- ½ teaspoon salt
- 1 teaspoon cinnamon
- ¼ teaspoon nutmeg
- ¼ ground cloves
- 1 cup bran cereal (not flakes)
- ½ cup undiluted evaporated milk

- 1 cup pumpkin
- ½ cup salad oil
- 1 slightly beaten egg
- ½ cup raisins

Combine flour, sugar, baking powder, salt, cinnamon, nutmeg, and cloves in large bowl. Combine cereal and milk in a small bowl. Allow to set 10 minutes or until milk is absorbed. Combine cereal, pumpkin, oil, egg, and raisins. Add to flour mixture. Stir just until flour is moistened. Do not over mix. Spoon into paper-lined muffin tins, filling to top. Sprinkle top of muffins with 1 teaspoon cinnamon sugar. Bake in 400-degree oven for 25-30 minutes or until toothpick inserted in center comes out clean.

CHICKEN NUGGETS

- ¾ cup low-fat or nonfat plain yogurt

- 1 tablespoon honey
- 1 cup uncooked oat bran for creamy style hot cereal
- ½ teaspoon black pepper
- 2 egg whites, lightly beaten
- 2 cups (about 1 pound) chicken breast, skinned, boned, and in 1-inch cubes
- 4 to 5 tablespoons oil

Prepare yogurt-honey sauce by stirring yogurt and honey together in a small bowl. Refrigerate covered. Remove from refrigerator 30 minutes before serving.

Combine oat bran and pepper in a pie plate. Beat egg whites in a small bowl until soft peaks form. Dip chicken in bran mixture, then egg whites, and again in bran mixture. Shake off excess and set chicken cubes on waxed paper.

Heat oil in large skillet. Add chicken to skillet and saute for 5 minutes or until coating is golden and center of chicken is no longer pink. Add more oil as needed. Drain on paper towel. Serve warm with sauce.

OAT-DILL

OVEN FRIED FISH

- 3 tablespoons margarine
- ¼ cup oat bran (creamy style hot cereal)
- ¼ cup yellow cornmeal
- ½ teaspoon dried dillweed
- 2 egg whites
- ¼ cup skim milk
- 1 pounder flounder or sole fillets
- ¼ cup parsley
- 1 lemon, sliced

Preheat oven to 375 degrees. Melt margarine in a 15½ x 10½ x ½ -inch jelly roll pan. Combine oat bran, cornmeal and dillweed in 10-inch pie plate. Beat egg whites in small bowl until soft peaks form. Stir in milk.

Pat fish dry with paper towel. Dip fish first in bran mixture to coat, then in egg mixture, and again in bran mixture. Arrange fish on top of melted margarine. Bake for 5 minutes. Turn over and continue to bake for 2 to 3 minutes or until lightly browned. Garnish with parsley and lemon slices.

Traveling with Tiny Toddlers

"You can control a modern automobile with your fingertips, but controlling the young passengers inside it is a problem auto engineers haven't solved," quoted a wise mother. Little passengers in the bassinet stage will travel peaceably, as long as they are dry and fed. It is the children past that stage who can create a carload of noise and confusion.

By the time you read this, I'll have taken some of my own advice, packed our bags, my husband and 1½ year old and began a six-hour trek to ski country. While we have traveled distances before, Elise was then a docile bundle of joy. By this age, she more closely resembles a tornado in both speed and upheaval.

So, while the destination sounds fabulous, the effort to get there was almost enough to keep me from going until I enlisted some references on how to survive the six hour drive with a new toddler. What follows are some ideas that I've pulled together for that age that is in between infant and "reasonable" toddler.

Whatever age and type of travel, keep in mind that safety must come first. Insist on your child using a seat belt or child restraint seat. Remember to set a good example with your own behavior.

Don't expect youngsters to be thrilled by things other than those very close a hand, such as radio knobs, or seat recliner buttons. The spectacular, such as large doses of scenery, is rarely interesting to a child. On long trips, restlessness can be minimized if you stop every two hours. Let the children out to stretch, though they will need close supervision at busy rest stops. Some experts suggest that child controllability is best if you stop traveling by 4:00 p.m.

Another aid to child control lies in not crowding young passengers inside the car. Pack carefully, avoiding taking "everything" along. What you will want to include are the following items:

- Healthy snacks that are neither messy nor perishable ... pretzels, crackers, cookies, grapes, carrot sticks.

- A litter bag, tissues and damp washcloth to wipe sticky hands and unexpected spills.

- Small individualized juice cans come in handy, although water from home is hard to beat as a thirst quencher and is less likely to stain if spilled.

- A child's bed pillow or familiar blanket will help to take a nap when they get drowsy.

• For entertainment enroute, the two to seven set will enjoy crayons, paper, and blunt scissors. Put a few small light toys inside the box with the snack. Small picture books, games, magnifying glasses, magnets are good ideas. You might try one or two new play items for some excitement.

You may want to try tape recorded stories as another option. Before you leave, tape some of your child's favorite songs or stories — or you can buy many of these already recorded. You may even find it fun to tape record your child and they play it back for some family fun.

Remember, too, to put comfortable, familiar clothes on your kids. The layered book may help to adjust to temperature changes that will occur throughout your travels.

And despite all of your efforts, if pandemonium does break loose inside your car, let it go until you can safely pull off of the highway. Only when you have safely come to a stop can you properly deal with the situation within the car.

As for the success rate of these ideas ... I'll let you know if I survive the drive! Happy travels.

Question Corner

ANSWER — Mary Schlaseman, Mt. Zion, requested a recipe for molasses coconut Easter eggs. Thanks Ruth Grube, Barnesville, for sharing yours.

Molasses Coconut Eggs

- ¾ cup light cream
- ½ cup brown sugar
- 2 tablespoons granulated sugar
- ¼ cup molasses
- 2 tablespoons baking molasses
- 2 tablespoons butter
- 3 cups flaked coconut

Place cream, sugars, molasses and butter in a heavy sauce pan. Bring to a boil, stirring until sugar is dissolved. Boil over medium heat, stirring occasionally, until a soft ball forms when a small amount is dropped into cold water. Remove from heat. Add coconut, stir well. Drop by teaspoonfuls on a greased cookie sheet. Shape into eggs when cool enough to handle. Chill. Dip into melted chocolate made from:

- 12 ounces semi-sweet chocolate bits
- 2 tablespoons vegetable shortening, melted

Did You Know?

Tightening our homes through the use of window and door sealers, weatherstripping, and other energy conserving measures will considerably reduce the amount of energy required for heating and cooling. Unfortunately, these practices also reduce natural ventilation to the point that moisture generated by typical everyday activities such as cooking, bathing and even breathing presents a problem.

Condensation on interior windows, wood decay and growth of mold and mildew on walls or ceilings are sure signs of excessive moisture. Because excess moisture can cause hidden problems as well, a clear understanding of why problems occur is an important first step towards a successful solution.

To learn about causes and a range of possible techniques to eliminate home moisture problems, come to the "Moisture and Water Control in Residential Environments" seminar sponsored by the Penn State Cooperative Extension, Lancaster County. It will be held from 1:00 to 3:00 p.m. and repeated from 7:00 to 9:00 p.m., Tuesday, January 31, at the Lancaster Farm and Home Center. Phyllis Barner, Ph.D., Extension Housing and Home Environment Specialist, Penn State University, will teach the seminar.

The seminar is free and open to the public. Please call Penn State Cooperative Extension at 394-6851 with your reservation.

Handle Home Appliances Carefully

Food processors, mixers and blenders have made home cooking easier, but they have also made it easier for cooks to injure themselves. About 7,000 people visit hospital emergency rooms each year with an injury related to one of these appliances, according to the Consumer Product Safety Commission.

Most of these injuries can be avoided by following simple, common-sense guidelines.

* Read all instructions. This will reduce your chance of being injured and also prevents damage to an expensive machine. Not only that, your food will taste better if properly prepared. Keep your instruction book on file so you can refresh your memory from time to time.

* Supervise appliance use when children are around. Children often don't realize how powerful these machines are and a moment's distraction can be disastrous.

* Avoid contact with moving parts. Contact with blades or cutting edges is the major cause of injury. Many appliances, like food processors whose blades spin as fast as 1,700 times a minute, are designed with safety features that keep the machine from operating unless the safety cover is on, but be sure the the cover is locked into place.

* Use a food pusher to slice or shred food. This makes it impossible for fingers to touch the discs that fit into the top of the work bowl.

* Don't reach into the chute. If your machine becomes jammed, make sure it is off before attempting to unplug it. This is especially important with blenders or mixers, because the blades are easier to reach.

* Unplug appliances when not in use, before inserting or removing parts and before cleaning to prevent a machine from accidentally being turned on and causing an injury.

* Handle blades carefully. This is common sense, but many cooks still suffer injury because they do not think before they act. The most common injury is dropping a blade into soapy water and then reaching in to pick it up. Keep blades on the counter until you are ready to wash them. Also, never remove food from a blade with your finger. Scrape it off with a spatula.

* Unplug an appliance by grasping the plug and pulling it from the electrical outlet. Don't pull it by the cord. You'll damage the wiring.

* Never let the cord dangle over the edge of the counter. Don't make it easy to knock the appliance to the floor.

* Never immerse the motor in water or other liquid. This creates electrical shock hazards. Instead, wipe machine bases clean with a damp cloth.

* Don't use damaged machines. The instructions will tell you to return the appliance to an authorized service facility for examination, adjustment or repair.

Sunlight, Heat And Moisture Are Fabric Enemies

What happened to your cotton curtains? If yours are no longer crisp and bright, moisture and sunlight may be the culprits. Fabrics for home furnishings may deteriorate from exposure as well as from normal dirt and wear. Before you buy curtains, upholstered furniture, or other fabrics for your home, think about the types of exposure they will have to resist.

The ideal fabric should resist heat, moisture, sunlight, and air pollution, but, alas, such a fabric is practically impossible to find. However, you can look for fabrics that resist the use problems most prevalent in your home.

* Acrylics resist sunlight and do not discolor. They resist solar heat and have a low moisture absorbency.

* Cotton loses strength, eventually rots and gradually yellows from sunlight. It is resistant to deterioration from solar heat and, depending on its finish, has a medium to high moisture absorbency rate.

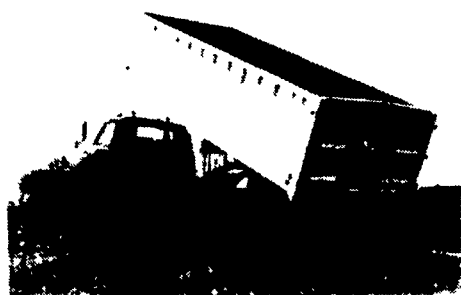

* Modacrylic does not lose its strength in sunlight and absorbs little moisture, but is heat sensitive and can soften at solar heat temperatures above 105°.

Farm Women Societies

Lancaster Society 10

Society of Farm Women #10 of Lancaster County met at the home of Mrs. John McGrann on January 14.

The speaker was Mrs. James

Green, executive director of hearing conservation, Deaf Services Center of Lancaster.

As a United Way agency, they try to identify all deaf and hearing impaired.

Lancaster Society 25

Twenty members attended a meeting of the Society of Farm Women Group #25 on January 14 at the home of Miriam Byers.

Ada Rice was in charge of devotions. A roll call of "My Favorite Relaxation" proved that the favorite form of relaxation was reading and watching TV, usually ending up in a nap.

Society #25 will participate in the variety sale at the Millersville

Fire Hall March 18. They will also hold a food sale April 22 at John Herr's Mart, Millersville.

Frances Greenawalt and Miriam Byers gave interesting reports on the State Convention.

Doris Thomas will present a program on "Food Safety Is No Mystery" at the February 11 meeting at the home of Helen Thompson, 403 S. West End Ave., Lancaster.

Lancaster Society 20

Lancaster Farm Women #20 met at the home of Vera Herr. The guest speaker was Representative John Barley who spoke on the legislation.

The roll call was answered by mentioning the Christmas gifts received from their secret pals. The Sewing Committee announced members would be sewing bed pads at the March meeting. The Sunshine Committee reported that 39 get well cards, 16 sympathy, 5 bouquets, 2 fruit baskets, 1 rose and 1 birthday card were sent for the year. If the weather permits, a party is scheduled for January 21 at Vera's home.

Lancaster Society 1

The Society of Farm Women Group 1 met at the home of Lillian Hetrich. Fifteen members answered to roll call.

The guest speaker was Suzanne Lambert, a native of Noone, Alaska. She spoke on life in Alaska and displayed some of the foods, such as dried fish. She also displayed hand sewn slippers, mittens and boots made from skins.

Elsie Badro was presented with the Farm Women's Gold Pin in honor of her 80th birthday.

Next month's meeting will be held on February 8 for lunch at the Oley Legion Diner.

Berks Society 4

The Berks County Society of Farm Women #4 held their January meeting in the home of Mrs. Jean Waldo.

Members reviewed the society's by-laws and received the program schedule for 1989.

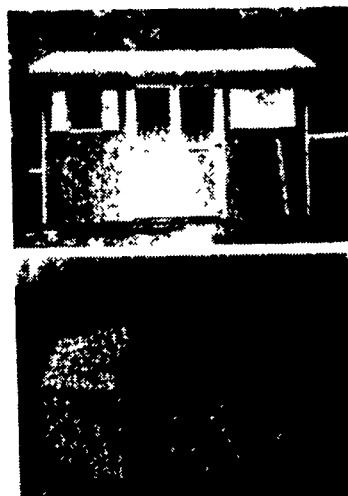

Two members made plans to attend the 70th State Convention in Harrisburg.

The February meeting will be a Valentine exchange and a brief talk on the origin of Fasnacht Day at the home of Mrs. Lottie Burkepile.

Poised For Action: State Dairy Princess Plans Strategy

BY LOU ANN GOOD
HARRISBURG — Kimberly Bonzo is one teenager who doesn't sit around waiting for things to happen. The Pennsylvania Dairy Princess sets goals and works hard to achieve them.

Unlike most of her peers she brags, "I haven't watched T.V. in three years. It's a waste of time."

She emphasized, "I set my goals high. I never want second best. I strive to be the best."

These months, Kimberly concentrates on promoting dairy products in the best way possible.

Last week, her first time ever at the massive Farm Show, found her talking to thousands of people. "I'm overwhelmed," she said. "It's great. We handed out milk and literature to so many people."

As the state dairy princess, Kimberly follows a demanding public appearance schedule. When she returns home, she kicks off her heels, removes her crown and dons jeans and boots to milk cows.

"Sometimes I don't feel like getting out of bed at six in the morning to milk cows, but I do it. When I'm home, that's my job, two times a day."

Kimberly isn't complaining. She emphasizes, "If I hadn't grown up on the farm, I wouldn't be where I am now. Kids in town know nothing about responsibility. They think they're busy just going to school and running around."

Talking about school, this top honor roll student needed to miss 23 days of school during the past three months in order to promote dairy products. Her grades never wavered. She said, "My friends took notes for me. They're really understanding."

But to maintain her promotional schedule and her grades, the high school senior has made some sacrifices. "I don't get to run around with my friends very much," she admitted. And she doesn't get to ride her three-year-old quarterhorse.

"I used to ride for hours," she said. "Now I hardly ever get a chance to ride even for a few minutes."

To maintain her dairy princess duties, Kimberly had to cut out many activities, but there is one thing she is determined not to lose. That is her relationship with her parents. She said, "My dad and I have a neat relationship, I can talk with him about guys—something my friends can't do with their dads."

Sometimes after Kim returns home after several days absence, her dad teases, "Gee, you've changed. I almost forgot what you looked like."

Kimberly admits that she has changed since receiving the state crown. She said, "I had been rather shy. This has helped me gain confidence and talk to all kinds of people."

Her poise has captured the attention of a modeling agency. She has consented to model dresses during a four-day modeling stint in February. "But," she insists, "I will not walk out on stage in a bathing suit. That's not my kind of life. I want people to take me for my brain, not for what they see."

The dairy princess doesn't promote dairy products without help. Here Kim (center) is joined by state alternate Tammy Balthaser (left) and Clarinda Leatherman, former state alternate. During Farm Show week, they handed out free milk samples and literature at the Real Seal dairy promotion booth.

This Real Seal team shared a few laughs with Kimberly Bonzo, state dairy princess, during Farm Show week.

The Robot Mannequin: Is She Real?

Franklin County Correspondent

HARRISBURG — "Is she real?"

"No, of course not. Look at her eyes. She doesn't blink."

"But she has to be real. Her skin doesn't look fake."

"But how could a real person

A big draw at the Farm Show dairy promotion booth was Suzette, the Robot Mannequin, who had the crowd guessing: "Is she real or is she a mannequin?"

Thousands of people were attracted to the dairy promotion booth by the performance of Suzette, the Robot Mannequin.

move like that?"

Conversations similar to this one took place many times in front of the Dairy Promotion Booth at the Farm Show last week. The object of thousands of people's fascination was Suzette, the Robot-Mannequin, a 29-year-old performer from Newark, Delaware.

While handing out dairy promotion literature to the crowds that thronged the dairy booth, Suzette stared blankly, never smiled, and moved with the mechanical, deliberate movements of a robot.

The overall effect was absolutely eerie. It really was difficult to determine whether she was a real person or an electronically controlled robot. The identically dressed mannequin beside her added to the illusion.

From the foot high black box on which she stood to perform,

Suzette swiveled slowly from side to side while handing out recipe leaflets. Her glassy, wide-open eyes seemed to see nothing; yet she occasionally winked at young men in the crowd. She appeared oblivious to any attempts to make her laugh. Although the air in the North Building was heavy with hay dust and the smell of animals, Suzette never once coughed or sneezed.

(Turn to Page B15)

Robot Mannequin

In fact, in ten years of performing, Suzette has never laughed, smiled, coughed, sneezed or otherwise acted out of character while on her black box. The closest she ever came to breaking the illusion of being a robot came one time when she had a cold. "I had to take a 'time-out' and get down off the box and cough," she said during her break. The longest she can maintain her concentration is two and a half hours; however, because Farm Show performances were eight hours a day for six straight days, she took a break every hour. To signal an upcoming break, Suzette made a "time-out" sign with her hands, then jumped off the box, much to the delight of the crowd.

Although perfectly controlled on the job, Suzette is charming and personable when off the box. Her warm smile and animated face are a complete contrast to the deadpan expression she wears while performing.

Even though Suzette's eyes do not appear to focus while she is performing, she said she uses her peripheral vision to see who in the crowd does not have the promotional items she is distributing. Her rare blinks are almost unnoticeable.

Suzette's career started in shopping malls in Delaware, where she did freeze modelling -- pretending to be a mannequin. She also worked in the office of a baking company, and was asked to use her modelling skills to promote the bakery's products. She wore a tuxedo and handed out samples in supermarkets.

Lancaster Farming, Saturday, January 21, 1989-B15

Suzette relaxes between dairy promotion performances.

Now, she works full-time as a robot mannequin at food shows, conventions, and agricultural fairs.

Contrary to appearances, Suzette is totally aware of spectators. "I have to look for someone to pick on," she said, "and see who doesn't have the promotion I'm handing out."

Although her face and eyes remain completely expressionless, Suzette uses small gestures to entertain the crowd. She beckons small children to her with a seemingly mechanical finger. Sometimes, when someone takes a brochure from her, she holds on to it so they have to pull it slightly. Then she rocks back and forth as though the person has pulled her off balance.

After an eight hour day of this, Suzette's muscles ache a bit, and her eyes are tired from the Farm Show's dusty atmosphere. "It might catch up to me once I'm old," she said with a laugh.

The University of Delaware graduate likes to run during her time off, but otherwise does no special exercises for her performances. Just before climbing onto the box, she relaxes and becomes aware of her body. A few times, she has "gotten up there in a stupid position and couldn't fix it," she said.

Suzette's appearance at Farm Show was jointly sponsored by The American Dairy Association, the Mid-Atlantic Milk Marketing Association, the Mid-Eastern United Dairy Industry Association, and the Pennsylvania Dairy Promotion Program.

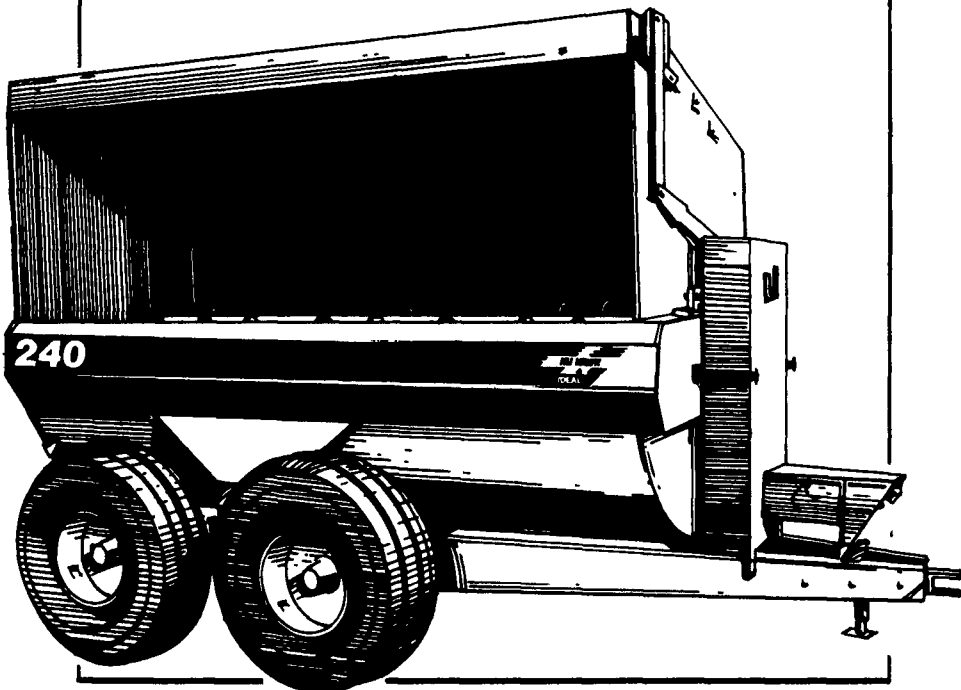

Bill Snitcher, Marketing Director of MAMMA, had seen Suzette at various trade shows and was instrumental in bringing her to Farm Show. "The response to her has been outstanding," he said. "She's a show-stopper."

Suzette performed in front of a huge mural of a REAL SEAL. "The REAL SEAL has been named the single most recognizable emblem in the food business today," Snitcher said. "Suzette is helping us drive home the message of REAL."

When Suzette hears someone in the crowd saying, "Is she real?" she obligingly points to the patch on her bright red sweater which proclaims, "I'm for REAL Dairy Products."

Suzette enjoys her job and considers it fun. "I feel good that little kids get such a thrill, or when I wink at someone and it makes their day," she said.

"I love setting the table with china," Arlene said. "I have four sets." She regrets that it is time to put away her Lenox Christmas pattern.

For Happiness...This Woman's Goal

BY LOU ANN GOOD
MOUNT JOY (Lancaster) — "Maybe I'm a little too silly," Arlene Witman said, "but I love to relax and have fun. And what better way to have a good time than be a clown?"

Being a clown suits Arlene's bubbly personality just fine. "When I'm dressed and painted up, even my close friends don't recognize me," she said. "I can act as silly as I want."

After years of yearning to dress as a clown, Arlene finally took the plunge for the first time at the Farm Women's State Convention last week.

For their annual banquet, Arlene, who was chairman of the state convention, decided the theme would revolve around a circus complete with freshly popped corn.

Her ideas was a smashing success and brought much laughter to farm women members.

Arlene's idea of having fun is making others happy. The Witman's stately stone farmhouse near Mount Joy is filled often with laughter because Arlene enjoys having guests. "I have them for brunches, patio parties and dinners," Arlene said.

Overnight guests from the Friendship Force find the Witman's home the perfect place to become familiar with local history. For 10 weeks a German boy lived with them and helped with the farm work. Several times, Arlene and her husband Paul exchanged visits with people from Ireland.

When overnight guests come, Arlene prepares breakfast for them, but she admits, "That's one meal I don't like to prepare even though guests enjoy it."

Arlene fingers some fine bone China and admits that setting a pretty table brings her much pleasure. She enjoys decorating the table with flowers. She has taken flower arrangement classes at votech and with Nancy Gingrich, known for her White House flower designs.

"I took three classes and after all that I still can't tie a bow," she pouts, then adds, "as beautiful as I think I should."

For 17 years, she worked at the Linen Hope Chest, a china and crystal specialty store. "I guess that's where I developed my love for fine china," she said.

She has several different sets in her antique china closets. Scattered throughout their huge house are collections of Hummels' and Co-boys, wooden toys and antique collectibles. "Most things in our house have a story behind them," Arlene said as she picked up a figurine that was mailed to them from her aunt Mary who served with the Red Cross for many years.

Almost everything appears to be in tiptop shape except for a window pane that is missing from her corner china closet. "I will never replace that," she said, "never."

The missing window pane reminds her of her deceased brother who had thrown a baseball against it when he was young. She said, "And every time I look at it, I think of him."

She points to a brass candelabra and jokes, "I'm never going to a nursing home because I can't take that with me."

Although she has many fine pieces of china, crystal and pottery, Arlene stresses that she uses every piece. "I don't just have it to set around."

Arlene has four different quilts, which she uses to cover her dining room table during the different seasons.

Their walls are filled with original paintings depicting places on their farm such as the inside of a tobacco cellar and the smokehouse.

For the past six to eight years, since Paul works at Lancaster Leaf Tobacco, the Witmans allow someone else to farm their 60 acres.

Arlene adamantly supports the Farm Women Society of which she has been a member since 1948. "I learned so much," she said. "By

WE'LL PROVE ALL SPREADERS ARE NOT THE SAME

Let's deal for a spreader now

When it's time to spread manure, you need a spreader that's built to give trouble-free service for years. The New Holland Model 795 delivers that kind of reliability. Load after load, this giant spreads manure fast. It hauls 410 bushels. Spreader paddles are made of high-strength, heat-treated, abrasion- and corrosion-resistant alloy steel, to resist bending and retain their sharp cutting edges. And Bonded Protection guarantees the sides and floor for the life of the spreader.

If this sounds like the kind of reliability you want, let's make a deal for a "795."

State Dairy Princess Plans Strategy

Promoting dairy products takes a lot of work and money. "I like the product, I grew up on a farm and I like to promote it," Kimberly said.

"So much of my success depends on my parents," Kim stressed. "It means more to me to get support from my parents than from my friends. My parents really encourage me."

Her parents, Gayle and Kay, farm 150 acres on rolling Beaver County land. "We do not have registered cattle nor are we on test," Kimberly said.

One thing they do have is love for the farm. She said, "My parents are second-generation farmers. My brother, Kevin, 26, and I are in charge of the milking. Her 25-year-old sister, Karen, is a former county alternate dairy princess."

After spending a week at the Farm Show, Kimberly admits adapting to every day activities will take some adjusting. She said, "Sometimes I make myself stop and think: where am I wasting time?"

One time waster, she discovered, is talking on the phone. "I must set goals; otherwise, I'd just float along and never get any where. My friends understand that."

The 17-year-old has earned recognition in scholastic and public relations achievement. She is vice president of concert, marching and jazz bands. She is drum major, secretary and announcer for the high school chorus, president of the state youth education association for rural affairs and fine arts, a member of the Students Against Drunk Driving, and of the Marian Hill Christian Missionary Alliance church choir. She is listed in the "Who's Who Among American High School Students."

Her term as state dairy princess has given her a shove toward her chosen career goal. She said, "I'm planning to major in communications and marketing at Robert Morris College. I think all my experience as dairy princess will really help my career. Regardless of what I do, I want to be the best. I'm not afraid of hard work."

Ida's Notebook

Ida Risser

This is one year that I got to the Farm Show more than one day. My husband and I usually go to Harrisburg on Tuesday and meet our daughter who lives in northern Pennsylvania.

She and I have certain things that we always look at there. Among them are the Home Economics exhibits. As I make braided rugs, I manage to examine them carefully. Next we enjoy all the floral designs and go through the Country Store. The F.F.A. displays are always interesting too.

We wouldn't think of missing the fruit and vegetables, the evergreen trees and the beekeeper's showcases. Of course the animals get a quick inspection too.

But this year I missed a few things as I spent four days at the Lancaster Farming booth at the Farm Show. I enjoyed writing out subscriptions for old friends and meeting new ones. Some people recognized me from my picture in the paper while others saw my name tag. People often feel that they know me quite well from my weekly article while I'm at a disadvantage as I know nothing about them. They tell me they can relate to my work here on the farm.

We've sold some big logs off of our farm as we have several woodlots. The big trucks hauled away black walnut, poplar, hickory and ash trees. I do hate to see trees sawed down. Then too there are the limbs and brush that are left behind the lumbermen. But I realize that there comes a time when they reach their peak and then split, rot and deteriorate. They are much like people as we too reach a peak and then slowly go downhill. Now why would I have to think of that?

W-L Alfalfa varieties are strong producers throughout the life of your stand. You can't afford to settle for less.

If your alfalfa doesn't make it to the fourth year, you've reduced the overall profitability of your crop.

In test after test by public and private researchers, W-L alfalfa yields stack up for profits. For more than 25 years, W-L alfalfa varieties have been bred for long stand persistence, quick recovery after cutting, multiple pest resistance and extra leafy, fine-stemmed forage. With proper crop management, you'll have strong fourth-year yields that stack up for a profitable crop.

MICROWAVE MINUTES

By JOYCE BATTCHER

Make up a brunch of microwave snacks before you sit down and enjoy the Super Bowl game. You might choose today's recipes for ease in cooking and delicious munching. The two snacks go well together and offer a variety of taste and texture.

Super Bowl Crunch can be made several days ahead. Butter and seasonings are melted, tossed with a crunchy mixture of oyster crackers, pretzels and whole almonds. The mixture is microwaved for three to four minutes, and must be stirred each minute so parts don't start to burn. If this were to be oven-made baking time would be about an hour with stirring at 15 minute intervals. Microwave cooking is much faster, but you do need to be around to stir each minute.

Italian Chili Dip is a spicy dip that's served hot. This too can be made several days ahead. Microwave heating of the chili and seasonings is fast with no worry of scorching. Add the cubes of cheese to the hot mixture and a brief microwaving is all it takes to finish the dip. There's no constant stirring or sticky pan to clean up.

Divide the dip into smaller bowls so you can reheat as needed. For heating, a lower power setting is used to protect delicate high-protein cheese from separating. Allow two to three minutes on Medium for each cup of dip. If you're in a hurry, microwave on High power for about half the Medium-power time — one to 1½ minutes — and stir after each 30 seconds.

Super Bowl Crunch

¼ cup butter
1 teaspoon dill weed
¼ teaspoon garlic or onion powder
4 cups oyster crackers
2 cups pretzels
1 cup whole almonds

Place butter in a microwave-safe 8x12-inch dish or 3-quart casserole. Microwave (High) 30 to 45 seconds or until melted. Stir in dill weed and garlic or onion powder. Stir in oyster crackers, pretzels, and almonds until well coated with butter mixture. Microwave (High) 3 to 5 minutes, stirring well after each 1 minute, until mixture is hot. Cool. Store in airtight container. Makes about 7 cups.

Each ¼-cup serving: 157 calories, 3g protein, 9g fat, 16g carbohydrate, 366mg sodium, 10mg cholesterol.

Italian Chili Dip

1 can (16 ounces) chili with beans
1 can (8 ounces) pizza sauce
½ teaspoon dried oregano
¼ teaspoon garlic powder
½ pound Monterey Jack cheese, cubed
Tortilla chips
Fresh vegetables

In a microwave-safe 2-quart casserole or measure, stir together chili, pizza sauce, oregano and garlic powder. Microwave (High) 4 to 5 minutes, stirring once, until hot. Stir in cheese. Microwave (High) 2 to 2½ minutes or until cheese is barely melted. Stir until cheese melts. Serve warm with tortilla chips or fresh vegetables. Makes about 4 cups.

To make ahead: Prepare as above. Divide into small microwave-safe dishes, cover and refrigerate. Before serving, microwave each dish of dip separately, uncovered, on Medium (50% power, 325-350 watts) for about 2 to 3 minutes per cup of dip, stirring once or twice, until hot.

Each 1-tablespoon serving: 24 calories, 1g protein, 2g fat, 1g carbohydrate, 79mg sodium, 4mg cholesterol.

doing small things I learned more things."

She stressed, "The Farm Women Society has the same goals as I do," she said. "Their motto is 'For Happiness' and their theme song is 'Brighten the Corner Where You Are.'"

She confides, "I always try to brighten other people's corner a little bit. You never know how you might help."

Arlene, who admits to always being a cheery person, finds pleasure in helping others feel better.

She said, "Depressed people must get a better view of themselves." She encourages them to find something they can do and do it well. "Even if it is small, small things add up, and you'll be surprised how much better you will feel."

Another "upper" for those who are feeling down, Arlene said, is listening to good music and keeping busy. "By thinking of others, you forget about your own problems. Sometimes all you can do for someone who is discouraged is to say a prayer and let them know you love him or her."

"I always wanted to be a clown," Arlene Wiltman said. She got her chance at the state Farm Women's Convention held last week.

Questions for Joyce

Q. How can I get meat really brown in my browning dish?

A. Meat should be completely thawed. The surface of unbreaded meat should be as dry as possible. Flatten meat with a spatula when placing it in the hot dish.

The length of preheating time will make a difference in browning — longer preheating will produce browner food. Check the directions that came with your browning dish to make sure you're preheating the dish long enough for the kind of meat and your oven's wattage.

Q. How do I microwave pudding mixes. They never seem to get thick.

A. If a pudding mix doesn't thicken enough, you probably aren't cooking it long enough. A pudding mix must come to a full boil in the microwave (same as on the range-top) or it won't thicken.

Use a deep bowl or 1½ to 2-quart measure for a 4-serving size pudding mix. This seems like a large container for the amount of liquid, but a milk mixture like this will boil high in the microwave. In a 650- to 750-watt microwave, microwave on High, uncovered, for 5 to 6 minutes, or until pudding is boiling. Stir twice during cooking (otherwise you'll end up with a big lump in the bowl bottom).

Q. How can I microwave large meats? My microwave doesn't have controlled cooking, I don't seem to be able to cook a large item, such as a ham, turkey or chicken.

A. First, let me ask if you have Defrost on your microwave? If so, you can use that for cooking meats. Defrost, on a microwave with only High and Defrost powers is usually 50% power, so depending on your microwave's wattage on High, Defrost could be about 325 watts, or it could be as low as 200 watts.

A whole chicken can be microwaved on High for about 7 minutes per pound. Cover it with waxed paper and turn it over several times during cooking. Turkey can be microwaved the same way, if you turn it over often, although a lower power gives better results. Ready-to-eat ham can be sliced, covered and heated on High, as long as you rearrange slices during cooking and are careful not to overheat.

A very good way to microwave large meats on High power is to buy a special microwave pressure cooker. Meat cooking is really carefree and quick with this — you don't need to rotate or turn the meat over during microwaving, and most meats cook in 30 minutes or less. The only disadvantage for a family is that the pressure cooker holds 3 to 5 servings.

UNIVERSITY PARK — More women under 30 have increased the amount of milk they drink than any other group. That's the findings of a new Penn State study designed to find out who is drinking more milk.

Overall, most people have not changed the amount of milk they drink despite the fact that many have changed other dietary habits within the last three years.

Two phone surveys — one for the United States and one for Pennsylvania — helped determine who had changed milk-drinking habits and why. Robert Herrmann, Blair Smith and Rex Warland, researchers in Penn State's

Who's Drinking More Milk

Department of Agricultural Economics and Rural Sociology, found that over three-quarters of the people responding to the survey claimed they had not changed their milk consumption in recent years.

Nationwide, 14 percent reported they were drinking more milk while 10 percent said they were drinking less milk. The results were much the same in the Pennsylvania sample. In this state, 12 percent reported they had increased and 10 percent claimed they had decreased their milk intake in the last two to three years.

Younger women make up the majority of those people making a move toward milk. Nationwide, people who increased the amount of milk they drink were more likely to be women under 30. Nearly one-third of all women under 30 who drink milk reported they had increased their milk drinking. This was more than twice the national average of the 14 percent who had increased consumption.

Milk seems to be a favorite health kick for people who have increased their consumption of it. The most frequently given reasons for increasing milk consumption were its calcium and other health benefits. These were mentioned over two-and-one-half times more frequently than any other reason. Other reasons cited for increasing milk were the desire to encourage their children to drink more and the taste of milk.

Health factors were also cited by those who indicated they had decreased the amount of milk they drink. The most frequent reason given was concern about calories, followed closely by concerns about fat and cholesterol. Only a small portion of those who had decreased said they had cut down because they don't like the taste of milk. When concern about calories was combined with the other health concerns, the combination was cited nearly three times more often than any other reasons.

In the national survey, respondents who said they decreased the amount of milk they drink had more formal education. Unlike those who had increased their use, these consumers did not think that the calcium, protein and vitamins in milk were important but were concerned about milk's calorie, fat and cholesterol content.

In Pennsylvania, one-third of all persons under 30 increased their milk drinking, a rate nearly three times the state's overall average of 12 percent. These Pennsylvanians were more likely to be single parents.

Those who said they had decreased consumption in the Pennsylvania sample did not have any clear-cut demographic characteristics. Like those in the national study, they placed little importance on the calcium, protein and vitamins in milk. They were also generally more concerned about what they eat than those who did not cut their use.

DK 636 Performance

Stands Out In A Crowd.

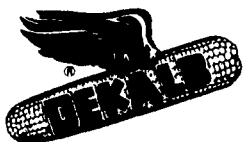

When the trucks start hauling in the harvest, it's pretty hard to miss who planted DK 636.

It's also hard to miss the fact that in last year's National Corn Growers Association state yield contests, DK 636 finished in the top 3 no less than 24 times. And its 209.99 bushel per acre performance also stood out as the national third place winner in the Ridge-Till Irrigated Class.

Your DEKALB-PFIZER dealer can tell you more about the great results you can expect from DK 636. But be sure to see him soon.

Because a lot of people are going to notice performance that stands out like this. And you wouldn't want to be left waiting in line.

1989 TIMPTE
GRAIN HOPPER

Got Grain? Then get the trailer that is TimpTE tough... the Super Hopper. It's not only built to take it...it's also built to cut fuel costs. The Super Hopper is lightweight and aero-dynamically designed to reduce wind drag. When there's grain to be hauled, TimpTE does the haulin' best and pulls a lot easier than the rest.

Get outstanding value in EVERY Eby trailer.

Whether it's a top-of-the-line Ruff Neck or an economical Wrangler, you know your livestock trailer is built to last if it's from Eby.

Aluminum construction is one of the main reasons these trailers are so durable and reliable. They'll never rust through or need welding.
In fact, without ever being painted, an Eby livestock trailer will stay looking new for years.

Standard features make your Eby trailer a profitable investment. Extra-heavy axles, brakes, wheels and tires. Thick aluminum sheet flooring. Sturdy posts and rails. Even an aero-dynamically designed front end is standard.

And, while standard features make even the economical Eby Wrangler far more than an average economy-model, we custom-build everything we make. So you tell us what you want. Choose from a long list of options. Select those features you need for your particular operation. Whether it's a Wrangler or deluxe Ruff Neck, the trailer you buy will be the trailer you need.

Call or write for more information and the name of the Eby dealer nearest you.

Angus Honors Go To York And Bucks Breeders

Rains Star Buck LS417 owned by Dale Rains of Mercer County captured the grand championship of State Farm Show Angus competition.

HARRISBURG (Dauphin) — GH2 Associates of York County was named the premier breeder of the Angus Breeding Cattle Show at the 73rd Pennsylvania Farm Show.

Dr. Joseph Calderazzo, wife Sally and daughter Jennifer of RD 9, York, brought six animals to the Farm Show and bred two other animals that were exhibited here. Jennifer exhibited the champion senior heifer calf, "Ms Elba Saleen of GH2" and the reserve champion bull calf, "GH2 Villanova."

They've had numerous championships at the Farm Show since 1983. Twelve-year-old Jennifer, a member of the York County Baby Beef Club, is in her fourth year showing at the Farm Show. She has two heifers entered in Thursday's junior competition.

Presently, there are 105 head of Angus on their Greystone Farm. They do embryo transplant work and some of the cows are recipients for their embryo program.

Putting credit where credit is due, the Calderazzo's said, "We wouldn't have won if it weren't for Brenda Walter, our herdsman for the entire operation. She does an extremely good job, 365 days a year... she does all our breeding, feeding and traveling."

Angus Female Grand Champion

Taken By

Kyle Warren/Genetics Unlimited

Top honors in the Angus Show went to Kyle Warren of Furlong, Bucks County. Royal Blackbird 3066 of GU is just 18 months old. She was shown by Day Sweigard who at 25 has 17 years of showmanship experience and was 4th in the National Jr. Angus Showmanship Contest.

Royal Blackbird of GU captured the Angus grand champion female title at the 73rd Pennsylvania State Farm Show in Harrisburg last week. Blackbird is the early summer yearling heifer owned by Warren Angus and Genetics Unlimited in Chester County. Angus show judge Dr. Ron Bolze was impressed by the structural correctness, soundness and strength of hoof on the move of the champion. Kay Sweigart (at the halter) is manager of Warren Angus.

With help from daughter Deb Hess, son-in-law Robert Hess and grandson John, the Metzlers gathered ribbons for exhibiting the reserve grand champion female, the reserve junior champion female, the junior champion bull and the reserve senior champion bull.

The Metzlers and Hesses operate Salunga Acres, south of Mount Joy. Salunga Acres was named premier breeder and premier exhibitor of the Polled Hereford show. The 1989 competition was the fifth Farm Show for Salunga Acres.

Adams County Farm Show's Grand Champion

Spring Bottom Farm has been exhibiting at the Pennsylvania

Farm Show for about 15 years. They've had a Farm Show champion or reserve champion every year but two out of the last twelve years. In keeping with tradition, all four of Darcy's heifers won first place awards today.

Darcy raises all of his females at Spring Bottom Farm, but does use some embryo transplants and artificial insemination.

Urban Farm Show visitors often wonder if the animals are bothered by all the people and commotion. Darcy said, "Our cows are pretty

Oak Hills Simmentals Take Nine Awards Another Champion For Messick

Grand champion Simmental heifer went to MF Miss CPS X10 exhibited by Mike Messick of Dauphin County.

HARRISBURG (Dauphin) — Wayne and Pat Hindman of Oak Hills Simmental Farm in Butler have won, in addition to many other awards, the Simmental Grand Champion Bull and Reserve Champion Heifer at the 73rd Pennsylvania State Farm Show.

They are full time farmers who raise "seed stock" for breeding purposes. The bull that took top honors also took grand champion at the Keystone International Classic. At less than two years old he already weighs in at an impressive 2200 pounds and his handler describes him as "very correct" in build.

Simmentals have only been in this country since 1969. They originated in the Semi Valley Switzerland. They are "very big, but very gentle". Simmentals are used for cross breeding with other beef cattle strains to increase bulk and easier weight gain.

Perennial Farm Show winner Mike Messick of Dauphin County is at it again... but not in baby beef class where we are accustomed to seeing him.

Mike exhibited the grand champion Simmental heifer in open beef judging competition at the 1989 Farm Show. His 928-pound purebred Simmental, "MF Miss CPS X8," was selected the best in a class of 20 March heifers and the champion heifer calf. Mike exhibited the reserve champion heifer calf and reserve champion bull calf. All three animals were led into the show ring by his sister Sally, a junior at Shippensburg University.

Eighteen-year-old Mike, a member of the Dauphin County 4-H, had a 4-H steer for the 1989 junior beef steer class being judged. But it got too heavy for this year's show, so he decided to concentrate his efforts on his Simmental breeding cattle and apparently, it paid off. Mike has one more chance next year to show the grand champion steer.

Messick exhibited the 1986 champion steer, "Andy," which brought $9.10 a pound, and the 1987 champion steer, "Elmer," which earned him $7.75 per pound. His 1988 reserve champion named "Alex" brought $8.50 per pound. None of those prices were records, but Mike's back-to-back appearances in the winner's circle will certainly go down in history!

He currently attends the Harrisburg Area Community College, studying business management. He would like to continue in farming and feels that a college education is necessary to be successful in agriculture today.

HARRISBURG (Dauphin) — David Miller of Bedford has been chosen the 1989 Farm Show's Premier Breeder and Premier Exhibitor. Miller who owns and operates Clay Acres Limousin Farms, has only been exhibiting Limousin for three years although he has been raising them for about 12 years. His family is a big part of it.

When asked if it was full-time job, he said "Not for me, but it is for my wife Lynda." Two children are currently involved in 4-H, one is away at college. He is hopeful that they will carry on the tradition.

Limousins are a relatively new breed, designed to meet the demand for leaner meat, according to Miller.

Haas Gathers Charolais Premier; Bratton Takes Grand

HARRISBURG (Dauphin) — Raymond & Susan Bratton of RD 2, McVeytown, Mifflin County, captured top honors in the Charolais judging competition at the Farm Show Complex. Their summer yearling heifer, "BCF Teresa," caught the judges eyes for grand champion female.

Bratton Charolais Farms is a regular Farm Show exhibitor, capturing many awards over their ten years as Farm Show exhibitors. They breed and raise most of their cows, currently numbering 120.

The Bratton's one entry at the Farm Show was a late entry because of another exhibitor's cancellation. The Farm Show barns are always bulging at the seams with entries and many must be turned down. Bratton's five entries were on the waiting list according to postmark.

Forest Service To Review Fire Management Plans

WASHINGTON, D.C. — The U.S. Department of Agriculture's Forest Service will begin an immediate review of fire management plans that allow lightning-caused fires in national forest wilderness to burn under certain conditions, Acting Secretary of Agriculture Roland R. Vautour announced today.

He said plans will be revised as necessary to ensure they meet requirements recommended by an interdepartmental fire policy review team in a report issued last month and published in the December 20 Federal Register.

The secretaries of agriculture and the interior established the team to analyze federal fire management policies and their application in national parks and wilderness, and to recommend policy changes which address the concerns of citizens and public officials about the management of fires in Yellowstone National Park and surrounding national forests in 1988.

"The review team's findings and recommendations are sound and very important to the improvement of our fire management program," said Forest Service Acting Chief William L. Rice. "Although there will be a 60-day public comment period on the report, it is appropriate for us to immediately initiate a review of our plans. By starting now, we can ensure that our policy will be in place and fully understood before the fire season begins in the West."

Rice and Forest Service Chief F. Dale Robertson has directed that all naturally occurring fires on national forests be suppressed until fire management plans have been reviewed and approved. In addition, he directed the agency's regional foresters to make certain their organizations are fully prepared to manage prescribed natural fire programs.

"Although our prescribed natural fire program has been successful since first implemented in 1972, the severe fire season this year pointed out some areas which need strengthening," Rice said. "We will certainly take advantage of this opportunity to make a good program better."

Northwest Pennsylvania Maple Producers Set Meeting

MEADVILLE (Crawford) — The plans for the 28th Northwest Pennsylvania Maple Producers' annual educational meeting have been completed and any persons interested in maple syrup production are invited to attend. The program will be presented on Tuesday, January 24 at the Northwest Rural Electric Cooperative Association meeting room located on Route 86, one mile south of Cambridge Springs.

This year's session is exceptionally good and will be very informative.

Soil Nutrient Management Program

DAUPIN — The Penn State Cooperative Extension in Dauphin County is sponsoring a workshop on soil fertility management for agronomic crop producers. Dr. Doug Beegle, Penn State Extension agronomist will present information on soil nutrient management, comparing fertilizer materials, and manure application to crop lands. Other speakers will discuss soil testing and the soil nitrogen testing program.

Farmers are encouraged to bring copies of their latest soil tests. Personal assistance will be provided in determining soil nutrient requirements.

DER Bureau of Forestry will bring the group up-to-date on the effect of the pear thrips on sugar maple trees. James Finley, Penn State extension forester will discuss timber marketing and taxation, which is an important topic for anyone with woodland. Ted Perdos, service forester with the Bureau of Forestry, will discuss "A Look At Penn Woods" and explain what a vital part our woodland plays in northwestern Pennsylvania.

The day's program will wind up with a visit with the Northwest Maple Queen, Vonda Burchard of Guys Mills. The association will conduct a brief annual meeting and elect three directors for the coming year according to Dennis Northrup, association president.

sonal assistance will be provided in determining soil nutrient requirements.

The program will be held on Monday, January 30 at the Agriculture and Natural Resource Center on Route 225, three miles north of Dauphin. The program will begin at 1:00 p.m. and conclude by 3:30 p.m.

There is no registration fee. Contact Paul Craig at 717/921-8803 for more information.

IF YOU DON'T LIKE PLANTERS COMPLICATED TO OPERATE — TRY A KINZE!

The planter you can grow with...

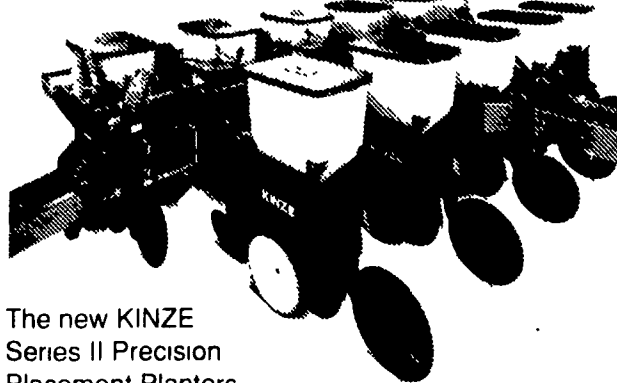

By Going From Corn To Beans
In Minutes, This Planter Can Eliminate A $30,000 No-Til Drill

The new KINZE Series II Planters introduce an exciting, innovative modular design concept that offers you total flexibility in planting options plus the most efficient precision placement planting technology

Think of the possibilities!
With KINZE's Single Frame Planter you can plant 30" corn... and minutes later, convert to 15", even 10" row spacing for beans or for small grains.

Or, set it up with liquid or dry fertilizer options instead of push units and save the extra trips and expense of other fertilizer application systems

Or, you can add the front-mounted Double Frame[®] attachment and do it all—standard rows, fertilizer and split rows. All with the same planter, same drive components, same drive system. Without sacrificing one ounce of that quality KINZE construction.

The new KINZE
Series II Precision
Placement Planters
More planting options
More fertilizer options More spacing options A smoother, more dependable drive system
Like no other planter in the field today!

Case International 1660 &
1640 Axial-Flow Combines
In Stock

When it comes to harvesting crops, this big cropsaver can save more grain than other combines in its size class. It has the muscle to 'get in and get out' fast to make the most of each day of good harvesting weather. It consistently turns out cleaner grain so you can get top market price. Put a 1660 to work and take advantage of these field proven features

- Axial-Flow Design. Uses a single rotor with fewer moving parts and fewer problems than conventional combines using the cylinder and concave design. Its more gentle threshing action means less cracked grain and top price for every bushel

- Human-Engineered Cab. Provides day-long comfort for increased operator productivity
- 180 hp Turbocharged Diesel and 3 Speed Hydrostatic Transmission. Plenty of power to handle soft soils and hilly terrain
- 1015 Pickup Header. Available in 11- and 13 foot widths. Hydraulic variable speed drive lets you match crop pickup to ground speed for smooth delivery with minimum shattering
- 1010 Rigid and 1020 Flexible Cutterbar Direct Cut Headers also available in several widths from 15 to 30 feet depending on model
- 1000 Series Corn Heads in four to eight row sizes

The 1660 Axial-Flow Combine . . . a generation ahead.

Reel Auggie

2000 Series

A new concept in TMR Mixers

The Mixer/Blender/Feeder that handles your TMR ingredients including long stem hay. Pictured is the RA2250.

Reel Auggie Mixing Chamber

The reel turns slowly and gently lifts material into the two blending augers. The lower auger is notched and moves the material forward. The upper auger, which moves the material rearward, features replaceable knives which assist the blending of long baled hay or other tough roughage materials.

Advantages of the Reel Auggie Design

- *Blending long hay, other roughages, and by-product materials.
- *Reduced mixing time with lower horsepower requirements.
- *Reduced material breakdown, fluffier material consistency and faster, more even unloading.
- *Power chute optional in tow and truck mount applications.

THE SLURRY MIXER

is built to handle your liquid manure agitating problems.

This 3 point hitch Slurry Mixer's large 22" propeller produces a strong undercurrent that moves liquids, floating chunks of crust, weeds, bedding and dried manure into the propeller that chops, mixes and blends your manure into an even liquid Slurry.

NO. 1 DAIRYING DIESEL

Since 1968 F2L-912 diesels have earned the reputation as the most reliable diesel. Don't settle for less.

2 Cyl. F2L-912

EASIER STARTING: Heavy flywheel provides easy starting. No electric heater plugs.

QUIETER: Runs quieter than most water cooled diesels. Very quiet exhaust.

Continuous Duty Rating:
26.5 HP @ 1800 RPM

Fewer repair parts than comparable three-cylinder diesels - cheaper to overhaul.

It has direct injection, lube oil cooling, and oil cooled pistons. This engine has proven to survive the extreme heat of a heavy load in a small engine house better than any other engine.

CHIEF ADVANTAGE BUILDINGS

FAST, STRONG, AFFORDABLE.

Chief has taken the three major benefits you want and put them in a line of pre-engineered multi-purpose structures called Advantage Buildings. And they truly live up to their name.

Fast Delivery and Construction.

Chief Advantage Buildings are pre-engineered, and ready for delivery. All you do is choose the size that suits your requirements, whether storage, commercial or a small manufacturing facility.

Chief Advantage Buildings are erected quickly. Quality components are manufactured to exacting specifications for quick, secure construction.

Strong, Durable Construction.

All-steel construction and computer-engineering provide long-lasting strength and value. Structural members are electro-coated to resist corrosion and 26-gauge steel sidewall sheeting is standard. Chief's Ultra-Kote exterior finish is so tough, it resists chipping, cracking and abrasion for years even in the toughest environments. Extra strength features include bolted connections and weather-tight construction for long-term value.

Affordable.

Chief Advantage Buildings are ready now for delivery, so there are no design or special charges. And because all components are manufactured in quantity, and in advance, you save. Finally, because they are delivered fast and erected quickly, you take occupancy sooner, giving you a fast return on your investment.

See your Chief Builder and compare. You'll agree that Chief really does have the "Advantage."

First-Time Exhibitors Win Farm Show's Market Hog Contest

BY LISA RISSER

HARRISBURG — A couple of Farm Show novices walked off with the championship honors at the Junior Market Hog Show last week. Susan Toner, a 15-year-old from Mill Hall, showed a middle-weight barrow that judge Dr. Gene Isler from Ohio called long, level, and functional in every way.

The daughter of Alice and George Toner, Toner walked her 16-pound crossbred almost every day to condition him.

Niki Alters, also a first-time hog exhibitor, showed the champion heavyweight, a Hampshire-Yorkshire cross that she called Blueberry.

Alters, the 13-year-old daughter of Dave and Jackie Alters of Bellefonte, is a 4-H'er. She plans to use some of her money from the sale of Blueberry to fund a trip to Guatemala this summer. She will be part of a youth group who will help out at an orphanage.

Penn State Extension Sheep Specialist

Just received notice from the American Sheep Producers Council of the following arrangements to transmit via RFD-TV the major program sessions of the upcoming Sheep Industry Convention, scheduled for January 18-22 in Las Vegas, Nevada.

If you have access to a satellite receiver and video recorder you may want to tape these programs for your future use. Following the convention the tapes will be made available for purchase at $35 each.

Following are some details on scheduled times and information on receiving these programs.

•America's newest superstation, RFD-TV, will broadcast programs on the American Sheep Industry Convention at 2:05 p.m. (CST), Jan. 20 and 23. In addition, a rebroadcast of convention highlights will begin at 1:05 p.m. (CST), Jan. 28 and continue for several hours.

•RFD-TV broadcasts on Spacenet 1, Channel 23 (S1/23) and its signal is rebroadcast by a number of low power TV stations across the country.

The sheep industry convention programs will feature speakers, interviews, and special events taped the previous week at the U.S. sheep industry's premier event. The program will focus on industry issues such as lamb marketing, wool marketing, management, economics and finance. The "Make It Yourself With Wool" fashion show featuring contestants from 47 States will also be part of the broadcast.

Information sessions to be televised are as follows:

1/19 - Thursday Opening Luncheon, "Capitalizing on Change", Dr. William M. Boast

1/19 - Thursday Afternoon Information Session, "Meeting the Lamb Marketing Challenge", Rick Sterling & Michael Rice, Sterling-Rice Group; Dr. John Allen & Dr.

Tom Pierson, Michigan State University

1/20 - Friday Morning Information Session, "Meeting The Challenge in Lamb Feeding & Product Distribution", Dr. Russell Cross, Dr. Jeff Savell, Texas A&M; Dr. Daryl Tatum, Colorado State University
1/20 - Friday Afternoon Information Session, "Meeting the Management Challenge", Dr. Wayne Purcell, Virginia Tech; Dr. Charles Parker, Ohio State University; NSIP Panel

1/21 - Saturday Morning Information Session, "Meeting the Challenge in Wool Marketing and Processing", Wool Marketing Panel; Thomas Drummond, Australian Wool Corporation

1/21 - Saturday Recognition Luncheon, Presentation of Industry Awards; "Meeting the Economic Challenge of the 90s", Dr. Gordon Rausser, U.S. Agency for International Development.

Rodger Wasson, executive director of the American Sheep Producers Council says information is a key to success in every industry. The U.S. sheep industry, which is growing after years of decline is no exception. In many areas producers have difficulty obtaining current information on sheep production and marketing. "We are pleased that RFD-TV's progressive management is accepting the challenge to provide sheep producers with current information," Wasson says.

The American Sheep Producers Council, Inc., headquartered in Denver Colo., represents the interests of the nation's 114,000 sheep producers. The Council conducts advertising, promotional, educational and public relations programs for the industry.

Specific questions on the broadcasting of these programs may be directed to Larry Ralston, Denver CO 303/399-8130.

Brothers Win Top Market Lamb Honors

BY LISA RISSER

HARRISBURG — For the second year running, Scott and Joe Kuzemchak of Pleasant Gap swept the competition at the Farm Show market lamb contest to win the champion and reserve champion honors.

In a reversal of last year's placings, 13-year-old Joe was presented the purple and gold banner for his lamb, a Suffolk heavyweight weighing in at 133 pounds, two days before his birthday. The win was Joe's second in the three years that he has been exhibiting at Farm Show.

The reserve champion rosette was awarded to 18-year-old Scott's 132-pound lamb. He has won several championships during his eight years of showing at the state show.

The sons of Gayle and Dick Kuzemchak, Scott and Joe looked for animals with their father, who is a shepherd at Penn State.

A partial list of the placings follows.

LIGHTWEIGHT

Class 1

1. Mark Shellenberger, Montgomery County; 2. Joelle Boll, Lancaster County; 3. Mike Bowman, Berks County.

Class 2

1. Laura Kwisnek, Indiana County; 2. Grant

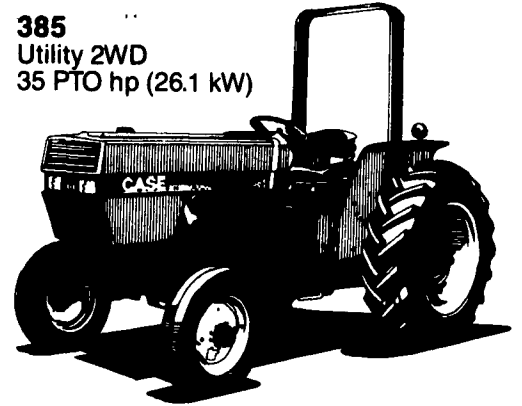

(Turn to Page D4)

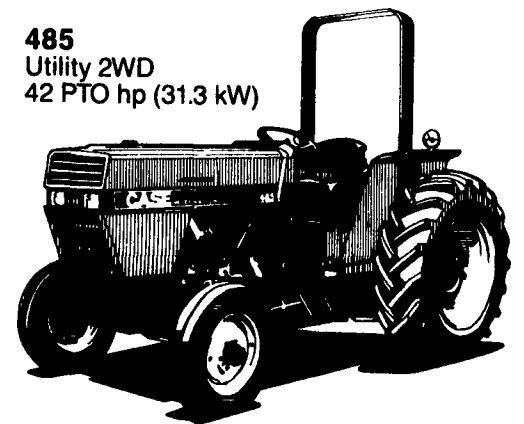

Thirteen-year-old Joe Kuzemchak, right, of Pleasant Gap was the proud exhibitor of the grand champion market lamb at the 1989 Farm Show. Offering their congratulations were Clara Clutter, 1989 Pennsylvania Lamb & Wool Queen, and PDA deputy secretary J. Fred King.

Bred-Gilt Sale Grosses $64,000 Plus

HARRISBURG — Building and improving herds was on everyone's minds at the traditional two-day Farm Show bred-gilt sale. For Merlin Waltz Farms of Williamsport, improvement came at the cost of $1,175 for the grand champion Duroc.

The February gilt was consigned by Stoney Ridge Farm owned by the Tom Frantz family. A total of 33 Durocs were sold bringing $11,210 or an average of $340 each.

More than $64,000 was spent in the small arena during the sale. An average price of $332 was paid for the 194 animals that crossed the auction block.

Just prior to the Yorkshire sale, Leon L. Arnold of Lebanon was presented with the Swine Breeders Award by Farm Show Commissioner Dennis L. Grumbine, also a Lebanon County hog producer. Arnold, who exhibited the grand champion Yorkshire, was recognized for his contribution to the hog industry. He was selected for the annual award by the organizers of the bred-gilt show and sale, who also sponsored the award.

Arnold received $675 for his champion, which was purchased by Cooper Charolai Farm of Maine. The 39 Yorkshires grossed $13,090.

A record high price of $650 was paid for the Poland China grand champion, which was consigned by James Hilty of Mount Pleasant. Rocky Acres Farm of New Tripoli bought Kings Doll. Another Poland China record was set when the average per gilt was tallied at $358. The 1988 record was $322.

The grand champion Berkshire, consigned by Dennis Grumbine of Myerstown in Lebanon County was purchased by Todd Bennecoff of Kutztown for $525. The 10 animals in the Berkshire show brought $2,490.

Eugene Smith of Mount Bethel spent $410 for the grand champion Chester White, which was consigned by James T. Parlett and Sons of Airville. The Chester Whites grossed $5,560 or an average of $265.

John Mummert of Seven Valleys in York County consigned the grand champion Landrace gilt, a February hog. It was purchased by Dave Korns of Hydman for $425. A total of 23 Landrace gilts were sold for $6,765.

The grand champion Spotted Swine, consigned by James T. Parlett of York County, went for $560 to Brian Lake of Big Cove Tannery. The 21 Spotted Swine sold for $6,900.

The sale provides hog breeders with an excellent opportunity to purchase champion animals with which to build and improve their herds. The champions had all been judged during Saturday's competition.

The reserve champion market lamb was shown by Scott Kuzemchak, an eight-year Farm Show exhibitor. With him are Clara Clutter, left, Pennsylvania Lamb & Wool Queen, and PDA deputy secretary J. Fred King.

For the first time this year, FFA'ers from Walter Biddle Saul High School competed in the Farm Show. The six Philadelphians showed market hogs ranging from middle-to heavyweights. The students and their advisor, Jim Tatro, got their crossbred hogs from Calvin Lazarus, a Lehigh County hog producer. The students were, from left, Candice Olszewski, Larry McGeehan, Tia Marshall, Tamika Marshall, Eric McClanahan, and Bruce Grundy.

New Idea Awards World's Top-Quality Hay Producer

COLDWATER, OH. — White-New Idea recently awarded one year's free use of a Model 5209 disc mower conditioner to the grand prize-hay division winner at the World's Forage Analysis Superbowl. Producing high-quality forage that maximizes profit per ton and per acre is just one goal of the World's Forage Analysis Superbowl. Now in its fifth year, the forage superbowl had over 260 entries in the hay and haylage contest. The contest was held in conjunction with the World Dairy Expo in Madison, Wisc.

A first time entrant in the Superbowl, Gene Smith of Livingston, Wisc., was named the 1988 grand champion hay producer. As grand champion, Smith will receive one year's use of the 5209.

Smith produces more than 60 acres of hay crop and milks an average of 60 dairy cows a year on his Wisconsin farm. "Due to the drought, the alfalfa matured early," said Smith. "When the alfalfa was harvested for the contest, the hay was dry enough so as to not cause spoilage like normal weather years." The type of alfalfa that Smith entered in the contest was Wrangler. Wrangler is a winter-hardy, disease-resistant type of alfalfa that is used on Smith's Wisconsin farm.

The forage samples were judged 60 percent on forage quality, 20 percent on visual and smell characteristics, 10 percent on farm and herd production information, and 10 percent on milk yield per ton. Dr. Dwayne Rohweder professor emeritus of agronomy for the University of Wisconsin headed the judging team for the contest. Rohweder reported that the relative feed values of all finalist forage samples were exceedingly high, averaging 244 for hay entries and 222 for haylage entries. This is unusually high with drought conditions of 1988.

Recognizing outstanding forage production, White-New Idea is pleased to be part of the Forage Superbowl, and has sponsored the grand prize in the hay division since 1985.

Adjusting Cyclo Air Planters

RACINE, WI. — The word is out from seed companies: "Some types of seed may be in short supply in 1989." That means you may have to settle for seed you're not accustomed to planting.

Because the odds are high that you'll have to operate your planter a little differently this spring, it will pay to check over these planting tips which have been compiled to help maximize the efficiency of your Cyclo® Air planter. With some simple adjustments, Early Riser Cyclo Air planters can provide accurate placement and uniform population with any type of seed.

As with all machinery, consult your operator's manual or ask your dealer for more information.

Adjusting for Corn

- Air pressure should be adjusted for different sizes of seed. Start with hopper air pressure of 10 ounces per square inch. If low population is experienced, increase the air pressure. If you get high population readings, decrease air pressure. If high population continues, raise the brush and readjust air pressure.

- For most sizes of seed corn, the seed cutoff brush should be in the down position. It can easily be moved closer to the drum if required for smaller seed. Adjust the brush so that only one seed occupies each seed pocket in the drum.

- To determine the proper drum to use on your planter, use the drum gauge which has been provided. Very small seeds (smaller than 29/128th-inch in diameter) may blow through the holes in a standard drum. If this happens, use a popcorn drum.

Adjusting for Soybeans

- When planting soybeans, Case IH recommends starting with 8 to 9 ounces of air pressure in the hopper and the brush assembly in the down position. However, large seeds may require higher pressure.

- The current 144- and 240-hole drums with a .180-inch diameter

The Ford New Holland model 1079 automatic bale wagon picks up, loads, hauls, and stacks up to 160 bales per load. Engine and chassis of the wagon are Ford Cargo series truck components. A 143-hp diesel powers the 1079.

Ford New Holland Baler Handles 160-Bale Loads

NEW HOLLAND (Lancaster) — The new Model 1079 automatic bale wagon from Ford New Holland is designed for large-acreage hay producers and custom operators who need large-capacity handling equipment and prefer three-bale-wide stacking patterns.

The new unit picks up, loads and stacks up to 160 14x16-inch bales per load. It also handles 123 16x18-inch bales per load.

The "1079" power train and chassis are a new design using Ford Cargo Series truck components. A 143-hp Ford 401-cubic-inch diesel powers the unit. Five-speed transmissions are standard. Differential and axle assemblies and suspensions are heavier than those of earlier models.

Truck power-hydraulic braking systems have replaced the vacuum brakes previously used. Quartz halogen headlights, electronic speedometers and air conditioning are standard, says product manager Brian Martin.

Cab windows are fixed one-piece units to improve visibility and dust sealing. Martin explains this provides a bonus in operator comfort that translates into improved productivity by reducing fatigue.

Record Crowd Attends Chemgro Meeting

MOUNT JOY (Lancaster) — Chemgro held their annual farmer's dinner meeting at Country Table Restaurant on Tuesday, Jan. 3, with 370 people in attendance.

Woody Funk, president of Chemgro, introduced the Chemgro employees and the speakers. He also recognized the Chemgro club 200 winners for 1988.

Steve Fisher, representing F.M.C. Corp., discussed the use of their products on corn, soybeans and alfalfa. He highlighted the use of pounce on cutworm and its new use for leafhoppers on alfalfa.

For any crop, plate planters require adjustments, different from those for air-type planters. On plate planters, fit the seed into the seed plate pocket. The seed should fill the pocket, but not extend above or below the thickness of the plate. There are various types of plates-- edge drop, flat drop, hill drop, and center drop. Careful selection will produce the best results.

Time is money during planting season. Field tests have demonstrated that air planters with central hoppers require 35 percent less fill time and as much as 70 percent less time to make adjustments or change seed, compared to conventional planters which have seed hoppers on each row. These statistics take on added significance when considering that a farmer's time during planting season can be worth up to $500 per hour, according to Purdue University's Top Farmer computer program.

Whatever the seed size or shape, proper maintenance and adjustment of the planter is critical to accurately planting the crop and increasing your chances of harvesting a bumper crop.

Option was suggested for use on johnsongrass and shattercane in soybeans. Fisher emphasized the proper use of pesticides and their safe handling. He also demonstrated the use of a selection of personal safety equipment used for mixing and spraying.

Mike Flemming, from American Cynamid, promoted the use of prowl on lambsquarter, velvetleaf, and pigweed. Prowl is used on corn, soybeans and tobacco and should be labeled for use on no-till in 1989. He also covered the proper use of Counter and Thimet granula insecticides on corn and the need for Squadron and Scepter on soybeans.

Jim Bowersox, Chemgro's sales manager, reviewed the 1988 Chemgro seed corn shelling plot results. He also described the entire lineup of corn, alfalfa, and soybean varieties offered by Chemgro. Chemgro's seed division manager, Wayne Walbert, reported on the growing popularity of Chemgro seed in his sales area, which covers six states. Walbert stated that the outstanding performance and adequate supply has resulted in phenomenal growth in sales volume over the past year. Bowersox also reviewed the more severe problems affecting field crops during the past year such as triazine resistant weeds, cutworms, European corn borer, burr cucumber, johnsongrass, and shattercane.

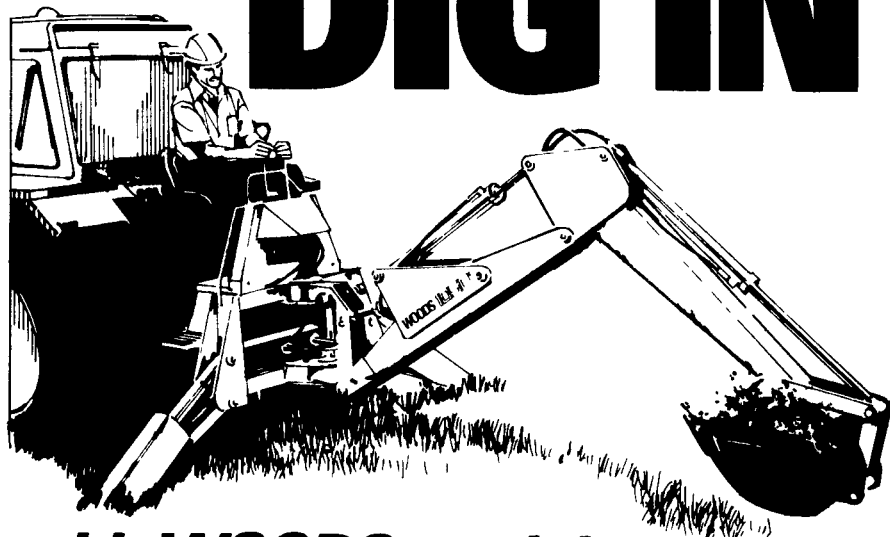

Buford Gunkle, a local agricultural celebrity, made numerous appearances to emphasize the major points of each speaker and keep the meeting lively.

Galen Kopp and Luke Bruckhart were also in attendance representing the Pennsylvania Department Of Agriculture.

Proper maintenance and adjustment of your Cyclo air planter will be more critical this year due to smaller-than-normal seed. Before going to the field, thoroughly check your planter, especially the seed selection and metering mechanisms, to be sure it will accurately plant the seed you have.

Case IH Expects Strong Agricultural Equipment Sales In 1989

RACINE, WI — Barring a repeat of the 1988 drought, farm equipment sales should resume a strong upward trend in 1989, according to Case IH officials.

"We remain bullish about the agricultural equipment market in 1989. Industry sales in the first half of 1988 were significantly higher than the already improved levels of late 1987. Only the drought prevented 1988 sales from exceeding the figures projected by industry analysts at the beginning of 1988," said Vickie L. Rickey, Case IH vice president, worldwide agricultural equipment marketing.

"In fact, despite the drought, the fundamental factors that support our optimism about the 1989 sales outlook have been strong enough to make 1988 actual sales reach 1988 projected sales levels in some equipment categories," Rickey said.

Factors supporting improved sales projections in 1989 include the virtual unavailability of good, used agricultural equipment, continued strong farm income projections and a farm-debt reduction of more than $45 billion over the last three years.

These fundamentals, coupled with a projected crop acreage increase of 25 to 30 million acres, set the stage for better agricultural equipment sales in 1989, Rickey said.

Indicators

Case IH officials are optimistic despite the impact of the drought. From 1985 through 1987, farmers made unprecedented reductions in debt—partially by delaying replacement of equipment. Today, tractors in use on North American farms are an average of 12 years old.

"When supplies of productive used equipment are depleted, farmers must turn to new equipment purchases to replace aged and worn-out equipment inventories," Rickey said.

Further supporting this optimism is continued strength in the farm income picture. Although projections of 1989 net farm income are lower than the expected 1988 total—$52 billion in 1989 versus $60 billion in 1988—both figures are near record-high levels for net farm income. The decrease is due primarily to reduced government farm program payments.

Farm input costs (fuel, fertilizer, and pesticides) may edge upward in 1989. However, inflation rates high enough to hurt net farm income and disrupt necessary capital expenditures for equipment replacement are not projected for 1989.

Average farmland prices are always another key component of the financial strength and attitude of farmers. According to USDA land price indexes, land prices bottomed out in 1987 and increase in 1988 despite the drought—the first such increase since 1982. The improvement in land prices is expected to continue in 1989, Rickey said.

The farm export outlook is another positive indicator for 1989. Exports are expected to improve as a result of currency exchange rates that make prices for U.S. farm products highly competitive in world markets.

Favorable levels of exports coupled with drought-reduced stocks indicate that overall crop prices will remain stable at relatively high levels.

"Taken together, all of these key indicators create the positive economic conditions necessary for farmers to resume rebuilding their agricultural equipment inventory," Rickey said.

"Today Case IH, like farmers and other portions of the agricultural economy, is a thoroughly restructured and revitalized business."

GEHL

Two spreaders in one

A Gehl Scavenger® II spreads both liquids and pen packed solids. That's like getting two spreaders for the price of one—a big advantage in today's increasingly competitive farm economy.

And a Gehl Scavenger II keeps you ahead with exclusive features like these:

Revolutionary patented square tube auger creates a unique pulse action that breaks up and blends manure more thoroughly than round augers. The auger hydraulically powers up and down to chop through bridged material and to slice through frozen material.

Exclusive Variflo side discharge provides smooth, even spreads from fine top dressing to heavy springtime spreading.

And the sealed welded Unibody construction is backed by a 10-year warranty against rust through on the tank.

Check out the versatile Scavenger II—in 192, 260, 345, 468 and 596 bushel capacities. Gehl offers the industry's most complete line of manure handling equipment with a full line of box spreaders, slurry spreaders and liquid manure tankers, plus lagoon pumps and manure loaders.

HAVING SOIL PROBLEMS?

Here's A Timely Tip...

Apply lime on frozen ground

Lime can be applied almost anytime, however winter months are ideal, because the ground is firm and the freezing and thawing action helps to disseminate the lime in the soil.

ALEXANDRIA, VA. — Middle Atlantic Order Market Administrator Joseph D. Shine today announced a December 1988 base milk price of $13.73 per hundredweight and an excess milk price of $12.25. The weighted average December price was $13.67 and the butterfat differential for the month was 15.1 cents. The base milk price was up 20 cents from November and was 78 cents higher than last December. The weighted average price was up 15 cents from November and was 79 cents higher than last December. Mr. Shine said that the December volume of producer milk pooled under the Order, 536.6 million pounds, was up 1.3 million pounds or 0.2 percent from last December. The average daily delivery per producer of 2,831 pounds in December was up 135 pounds or 5.0 percent from a year earlier. A total of 6,115 producers supplied Order 4 pool handlers during the month, 291 fewer than last December. Class I producer milk totaled 269.0 million pounds and accounted for 50.13 percent of total producer milk receipts in December. The December 1987 Class I utilization was 52.22 percent. The volume of Class I producer milk was down 3.8 percent from a year ago. The volume of Class II milk was up 11.8 million pounds or 4.6 percent from a year earlier. Base milk accounted for 89.49 percent of total December producer milk deliveries, down from 91.49 percent last December. The average butterfat test of producer milk was 3.84 percent in December, compared to 3.81 a year ago. Order 4 pool handlers reported Class I in-area milk sales of 224.3 million pounds during December, a decrease of 0.8 percent from a year earlier, after adjustment to eliminate variation due to calendar composition. In 1988 a total of 6.20 billion pounds of producer milk was pooled under Order 4, 82.3 million pounds less than during the previous year. This was a decrease of 1.3 percent. The volume of Class I producer milk totaled 3.08 billion pounds in 1988, down 68.2 million pounds, or 2.2 percent from a year earlier. The Class I utilization percentage averaged 49.75 during the past year, down from the 50.18 average in 1987. The Order 4 base milk price averaged $12.52 per hundredweight during 1988, 37 cents less than a year earlier while the average excess milk price of $10.95 in 1988 was down 20 cents.

SLICK CONCRETE CAN BE ROUGHENED

SCABBLING is an effective way to avoid unnecessary losses of cattle. The SCABBLER makes bands about two inches wide approximately 1/8" to 3/16 in. depth. This gives sufficient area for good footing while allowing you to scrape the smooth surface as before. It is near enough to the surface to give your cows full advantage of the roughness and deep enough to remain effective for years. It greatly aids in heat detection.

And the good news is that it is reasonably priced. You have the choice of doing it yourself or having us do it for you. We offer service right to your door. Call us for more details.

Biggest and Best Sale

Get 7.25% APR
M-F financing for 48 months

You'd expect the biggest values from the Western World's biggest tractor manufacturer and you won't be disappointed.

It starts with the best lineup of tractors we've ever offered: the 38 to 90 hp* M-F 200/300 Series "value-leaders" plus 60 to 155 hp* M-F 3000/3600 Series "high-tech" tractors.

And now you can get them with 7.25% APR M-F financing. Or choose a waiver of finance charges until May 1, 1989. Or select special factory discounts.

Stop in today and drive home your biggest savings on our best tractors ever. But hurry, offers end January 31, 1989.

The New Deutz-Allis 9100 Tractors.

Put your hands on one and see for yourself what sets them apart. See just how much more performance, power and comfort you can have.

All three models—9190 with 193 PTO hp, 9170 with 172 PTO hp, and 9150 with 150 PTO hp—give you the heft and power to handle big tillage jobs. To make short work of big acreage.

At the heart of each is the legendary Deutz air-cooled engine, known the world over for exceptional ability to stay on the job. With no liquid cooling parts, which typically account for 40% of liquid-cooled engine downtime, this engine can save you considerable time and money.

And putting that reliable power to work is a field-proven transmission of massive strength. With 18 forward speed choices including nine in the working range of 3.0 to 7.5 mph. Plus three powershifts under load in each gear.

Step inside the spacious cab and you'll experience comfort and visibility you didn't think possible. Plus a full array of convenient controls and monitors. All to help boost your productivity to a higher level.

Ask your Deutz-Allis dealer to show you the new powerhorses. See what sets them apart from the ordinary.

Junior Sheep Breeders Exhibit Their Finest At Farm Show

BY LISA RISSE

HARRISBURG — More than 50 young sheep breeders from around the state exhibited their finest ewe lambs and yearlings at the Farm Show's Junior Breeding Sheep competition. The difficult task of choosing champions and reserve champions fell to Monty Chappel from Lexington, Ky. He selected them from the Cheviot, Dorset, Hampshire, Shropshire, Southdown, and Suffolk breeds as well as a champion and reserve in the Other Breeds category.

Cheviot

In her nine years of showing Cheviots at Farm Show, Donna MacCauley of Atglen in Chester County has had a champion or a reserve champion in almost every year. This year was no exception as the 18-year-old daughter of William and Joan MacCauley captured both top honors with her sheep.

Chappel selected her homebred yearling ewe as champion, thereby adding to its titles, which include a second-place finish in the junior show at the North American International Livestock Exhibition. The ewe's sire is a Shoop ram and her dam is an Erdheim granddaughter.

Dorset

Fourteen-year-old Stacey Suffel of Carlisle expected her ewe lamb to do well as it has been named champion of other shows. Chappel didn't let her down as the lamb was named champion of the Dorset division. Suffel's yearling took home the reserve champion title.

Suffel, the daughter of John and Shirley Suffel, has been exhibiting at Farm Show for four years, and these were her first champions.

Hampshire

Lancaster Countian Wendall Landis will have good memories of his first Farm Show competition, particularly as he received both purple rosettes for his Hampshires. The 13-year-old son of Abe and Dottie Landis of Manheim, Landis is a fourth-year 4-H'er. Both of his champions were ewe lambs. Brittany, the champion, was reserve champion at the 1988 Lancaster County 4-H Woolies Roundup, while the reserve champion, Morgan, was champion at the 1988 Elizabethtown Fair.

Shropshire

Everyone has their own image of the perfect breeding sheep and these images differ. Such was the case at the open and junior breeding sheep shows. Chappel selected Geoff Powell's yearling ewe as champion, while the open show judge named her reserve champion. Powell also had the champion in this year's open Shropshire show, but that animal didn't place in the junior championship drive.

Powell, the 11-year-old son of Doris Powell of Rome, also had the 1987 Farm Show champion Shropshire in the open and junior contests. He is a third-year 4-H'er.

Jessica McCrumb of Mars in Butler County took home the reserve champion title. Chappel was impressed with her ewe lamb, which he named first in its class.

Southdown

Ewe lambs dominated the championship drive in the Southdown competition. Drew Bankert of Red Lion received the purple rosette for the first time at Farm Show for his first-place ewe lamb, Snowwhite. Slipping into the reserve champion slot was Elizabeth Dollar of Bedford with Dollar 69.

Bankert, the 10-year-old son of Michael and Joyce Bankert, is a second-year 4-H'er and has been showing at Farm Show for only two years.

Suffolk

Only hours after winning the Cheviot division, Donna MacCauley was accepting another championship ribbon, this time for her Suffolk ewe lamb. Her champion, Breezeview 588, also was named champion of the open show. Breezeview's dam was champion of last year's Farm Show open and junior shows, while her sire was champion of both 1988 and 1989 Farm Show open competitions.

Chappel tapped the yearling ewe shown by T.L. Brookover Jr. as reserve champion.

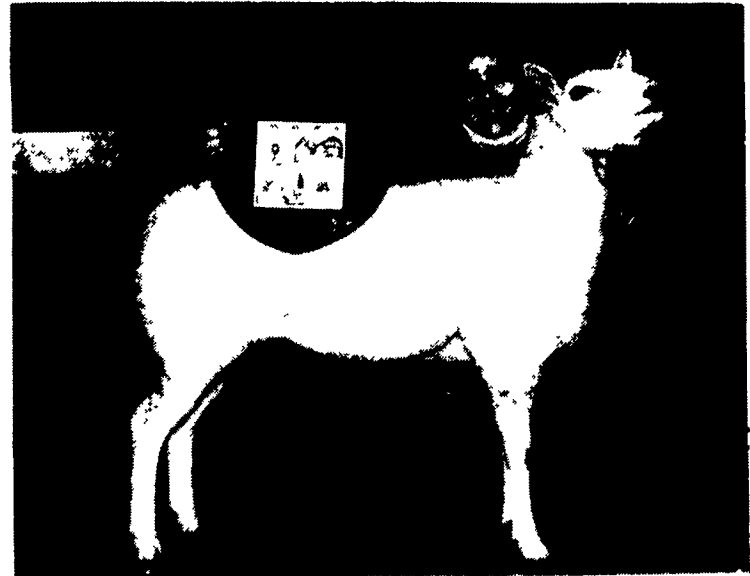

Other Breeds

Competition was stiff among the wool breeds that comprised this division. Rich Powell's yearling Rambouillet ewe was first in its class and champion of the division. Powell, the 14-year-old son of Doris Powell of Rome, is a five-year Farm Show veteran who has had reserve champions before. He had a feeling his yearling would do well as she was selected as supreme champion ewe of the Troy Fair and champion at the New York State Fair.

Chappel selected the ewe lamb shown by Kimberly Hopple as the reserve champion. Hopple's lamb was a Corriedale.

Donna MacCauley of Atglen exhibited yet another champion at Farm Show. In her nine years of showing Cheviots, she has had a champion or reserve in almost all of them.

The Pennsylvania Dorset Breeders, represented by Lee Wagner, center, presented the Youth of the Year award to Lori Tyson of Lehigh County. Offering his congratulations was judge Monty Chappel. The annual award is given to the individual who has contributed to 4-H or the Dorset industry.

First-time competitor, Wendall Landis, left, swept the Hampshire competition with his ewe lambs to have both champion and reserve champion. Lending him a helping hand is his father, Abe Landis of Manheim.

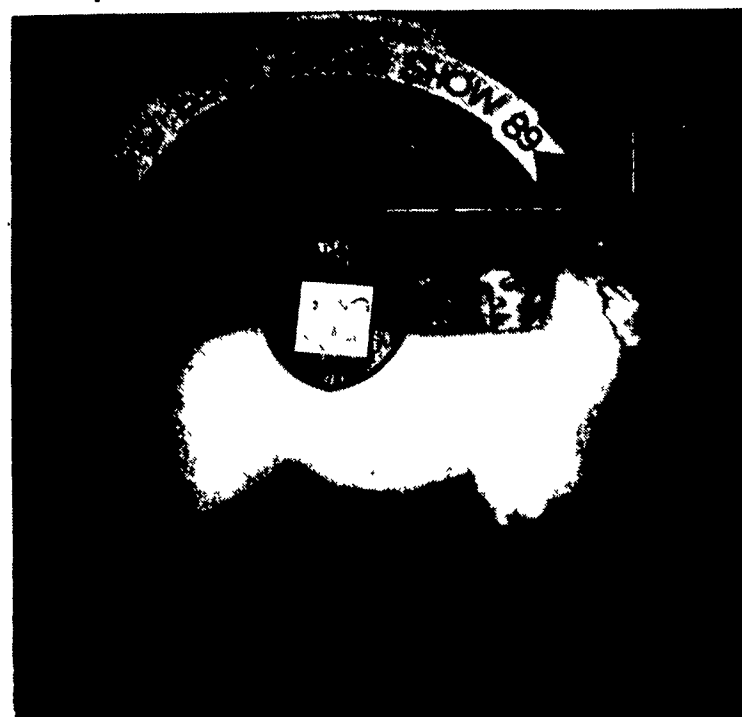

Eleven-year-old Geoff Powell, right, of Rome exhibited the champion Shropshire ewe. The ewe was reserve champion of the open show. His brother, Rich, left, added another championship title to the family's coffer when his Rambouillet was judged champion of the Other Breeds competition.

York Countian Drew Bankert showed his first champion Southdown this year, his second year of competition at Farm Show. A second-year 4-H'er, 10-year-old Bankert's champion is a ewe lamb.

The ewe lamb exhibited by Donna MacCauley was judged champion of both the open and junior Suffolk shows.

Both champion and reserve champion titles went to the Dorsets shown by Stacey Suffel, right, of Carlisle. These were Suffel's first champions in the four years that she has been exhibiting at Farm Show.

Christmas Tree Winners At Farm Show

HARRISBURG — Christmas came late for Carino Nurseries of Indiana County as they were presented with the Best of Show award at the 1989 Farm Show. The nursery placed first in the Colorado Blue Spruce, Norway Spruce, White Pine, and Balsam and Fraser Fir classes.

Comments Invited On Wool, Mohair Program

EPHRATA (Lancaster) — USDA's Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service invites wool and mohair growers to submit comments on the method for calculating price support for pulled wool and proposed price support levels for 1989 pulled wool and mohair.

"To be considered, the written remarks must be received in Washington, D.C., on or before January 27," said Donald E. Lutz, Berks County ASCS official.

In accordance with the National Wool Act of 1954, pulled wool must be supported at a level in relationship to the support price for shorn wool; that will maintain normal marketing practices for pulled wool. Lutz said mohair must be supported at a level necessary to maintain about the same percentage of parity as shorn wool, plus or minus 15 percent.

CHISEL PLOWS, FLAIL SHREDDERS & SOIL GROOMERS

Sub Soil Chisel Plow

A POPULAR VERSATILE
SOIL MANAGEMENT TOOL

The husky, curved shanks of the Sub-Soiler dig down as deep as 16 inches, shattering compacted layers of plow sole and lifting the hardpan while it is being broken. Once the soil is opened, moisture gets down to the newly created loose soil; root systems are no longer restricted and better drainage results.

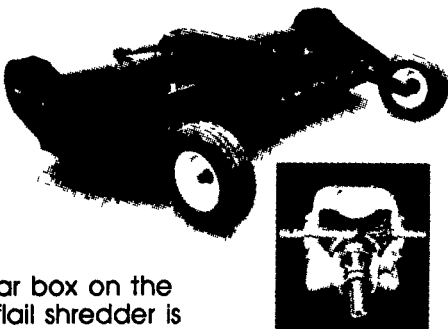

What makes the BRILLION Sub-Soiler better? Check these features: hefty shank mountings (shear pin protection) with lateral adjustment; replaceable wear strips to prolong shank life; rugged, wide chisel points; cross braces on all models for extra strength and optional gauge wheels. Available in two frame sizes, four models - with 5, 7, 9 or 11 shanks.

Soil Groomer

Main illustration shows 12-foot Soil Groomer with spike drag harrows. Inset photo shows new disc arrangement with 18" dia. discs that move soil inward to reduce ridging. Scrapers are adjustable.

Flail Shredders

The gear box on the Brillion flail shredder is made in Brillion's own modern foundry. It is then assembled with husky machine cut gears and tapered roller bearings. Input and output shafts are 1 1/4" diameter. The gear box is designed to match the horsepower of large tractors... to keep going when others heat up and quit.

Load-up with White Farm utility tractors

Livestock means loader tractors. And the 2-55 and 2-65 Field Boss® utility tractors were designed with livestock operations in mind. They come with a lot of standard features (extra-cost options on most other makes) that can save you time and effort.

Shift on-the-go. Our new synchro-mesh transmission lets you shift through four ranges without stopping. To let you choose from 16 forward speeds.

Tighter turning. You'll like the quickness and agility of the 2-55 and 2-65, too. Even the four-wheel drive models turn almost as tight as most other two-wheel drives. A big plus in feedlots and other tight spots.

Experience for yourself the quality and value built into every 2-55 and 2-65 tractor. Come in today. It'll be worth the trip.

The 2-55 and 2-65 Field Boss utility tractors are packed with features to save time and effort around livestock operations.

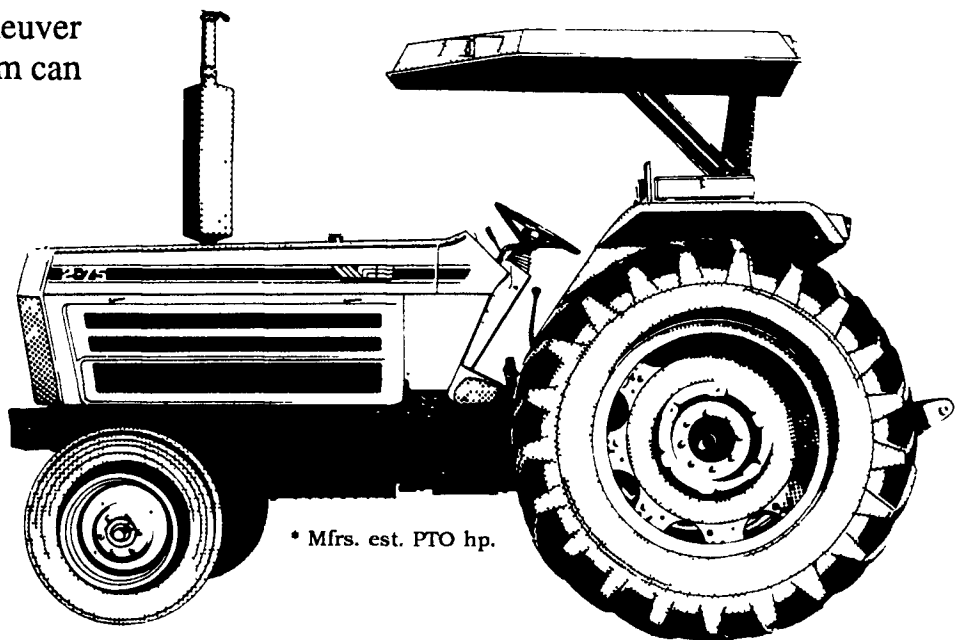

Big enough for the field, agile enough for the feedlot.

Whether you need to do heavy work in the field or maneuver around the feedlot, the 2-75 Field Boss® from White Farm can handle the job with ease.

Power to spare. The engine on this tractor is a beautiful 75* hp direct-fuel-injected six cylinder diesel. Teamed with the big-tractor power train and hydraulics, it makes the 2-75 more tractor than most utilities could ever be.

More standard features. What some other manufacturers call options come standard on the 2-75. Synchromesh transmission. Both 540 and 1000 rpm PTO. Two batteries for more starting power. Adjustable lower links on the 3-pt. hitch. And more!

Experience for yourself the quality and value built into the 2-75 tractor. You'll want to take one home.

* Mfrs. est. PTO hp.

Whatever you use a utility tractor to do, you'll like doing it better with a 2-75 Field Boss.

Feel the quality. Experience the value.

WATER QUALITY & MANURE MANAGEMENT

Mitchell D. Woodward
Project Associate-
Chesapeake Bay Project
The Penn State Univ.

Mitch is currently Project Associate - Chesapeake Bay Project working in a seven county area in southeastern Pennsylvania. He lives in Lancaster and has worked out of the Lancaster County Cooperative Extension Office for four years. He has a B.S. in Entomology and Plant Pathology from the University of Delaware and a Masters in agronomy from the University of Maryland. He helps coordinate Penn State's educational program to develop and implement a crop nutrient management program to help farmers manage fertilizer and manure nutrients.

This is the first in a series of monthly articles that we plan to write on the subjects of water quality and fertilizer/manure management. There are several reasons why we waited to start writing a monthly article featuring these topics. First, it is in response to the increasing amount of requests our Penn State Cooperative Extension offices have been receiving concerning the areas of crop nutrient management/manure management, and water quality. These topics are, of course, covered by Lancaster Farming and other farming publications and local papers from time to time. However, there is an ever increasing need for information on these subjects now, and will continue to be so in the future as there is increased emphasis on environmental issues in farming.

Secondly, the importance of improving water quality is not only on the minds of us locally here in southeast Pennsylvania, but is also a key program area in local, state, and federal agencies which can play a major role in educational and farming programs. Locally, the Chesapeake Bay Program is one example of this. Between 1985 and 1987 Pennsylvania spent over $14 million on the Bay effort. And that was just Pennsylvania! Maryland and Virginia are also involved. This should give you an idea of the commitment to improve our water resources.

Thirdly, I think it is important to understand that, although a lot of time and dollars have been spent to help agriculture "clean up its act" to improve water quality, agriculture is not solely responsible for declining water quality locally and in the Bay. However, we need to "farm smart", to be aware of how the practices we use affect water quality, to use fertilizers and manures more efficiently, to use conservation practices and other management techniques to reduce agricultural non-point source pollution pressures on the environment. By taking the lead and "farming smart", instead of trying to place blame, we can do our part in the clean-up effort, take the lead in improving the environment, and save some money on crop fertilization. Agriculture should not wait for regulations on water quality to be set. If we do, regulation will affect all parts of our farming operations. Farmers must take the lead and begin to implement strategies to effectively deal with the environmental issues which are now just beginning to surface.

That is the purpose of the monthly articles to follow: to help give you ideas you can put to practical use in order to improve water quality and save money on fertilizer and other inputs. With that purpose in mind, and after discussing the possible subjects which could be covered with farmers, farm agency personnel, agribusiness and County Extension agents, several topics came to light. These include:

- * Testing Your Farm's Drinking Water.
- * Advantages of Managing Crop Nutrients.
- * Ten Reasons Why Manure Storages Fail.
- * Operation and Maintenance of Manure Storage Systems.

nance of Manure Storage Systems.

- * Alternatives to On-Farm Application of Excess Manure.
- * Nitrate in Drinking Water.
- * Managing Nitrogen for Efficient Crop Production.
- * How Far Can You Afford to Haul Manure?
- * Strategies for Better Neighbor Relations/Reducing Problems with Flies/Odors.
- * Composting/Dead Bird Disposal, etc.

These are the topics I plan to deal with in the months ahead. But, we would like to hear your input too. Please contact me at the Lancaster Cooperative Extension Office if you have any thoughts or suggestions to share. We want this information to be valuable, containing facts you can put to work in your operation which will improve both your bottom line and water quality as well. As a community, we all must work together to protect one of our most important resources - water. We cannot afford to take such an important, basic necessity as water for granted. Whether you are a homeowner, farmer, or in business, protecting groundwater is a responsibility we all share.

The Cooperative Extension is an affirmative action, equal opportunity educational institution.

Eliminate Cluster Flies

This fall and winter you may find some cluster flies in your home. These flies are a little larger than house flies but more sluggish. They are also sometimes called attic flies.

The larvae (maggots) of cluster flies develop as parasites in the bodies of earthworms. The adult flies emerge in the fall of the year and seek protected places to spend the winter. They are somewhat difficult to control in homes because they hibernate in walls, attics and other inaccessible places.

It is best to reduce entry opportunities by sealing cracks and other openings and live with the few flies that get in. They are sluggish and go to windows or bright areas so you can eliminate the occasional fly with a fly swatter or flying insect aerosol spray labelled for indoor insect control. If you have a severe infestation, residual insecticides such as malathion or diazinon can be applied to surfaces,

Milk Consumption Research

BY BLAIR SMITH
SPU Dept. of Ag Economics
In 1986, a line of research into ways the consumption of milk and dairy products might be increased was initiated at Penn State. Federal monies to conduct this research were received largely through the efforts of Senator Arlen Specter, and we are just now entering the fourth year of activity under the several appropriations.

Four surveys have now been conducted. Telephone surveys of 1402 persons in a representative national probability sample, and the same survey of about 500 representative Pennsylvania consumers, were completed last year. The basic, overall purpose of these first two surveys was to obtain a better understanding of why people do or do not drink milk.

In the fall of 1987 we mailed a questionnaire to the supervisors of food service in each of Pennsylvania's 500 public school districts. This spring a questionnaire was mailed to every fluid milk dealer known to have public school milk accounts in Pennsylvania. The purpose of these second two surveys was to estimate levels of milk consumption in schools and to gain insight into what factors would seem to explain differences in consumption among school districts.

Analyses of the data obtained in these surveys are going forward and there are several publications in progress. Pending their arrival, you might be interested in knowing that the major reason people gave for drinking milk, by far, was because they like its taste. The second most important reason was for its calcium, and the third was because they thought it was good for them. In the national sample, 17.4 percent of the respondents said they never drink milk.

Nevertheless, almost half of these people do have milk on their cereal at least once a week, meaning only about 9.0 percent of the 1402 people surveyed never drink milk and never have it on cereal. An unfortunate and disturbing finding is that of the 1,158 people who do drink milk at least once in a while, only about 26.9 percent (311 people) said they are as likely to drink milk with their meal when they eat out as they are when they eat at home.

Also, of continuing amazement to this writer, is the dismal lack of consumer knowledge of the fat content of whole milk. Only 37 percent of the respondents were willing even to offer an estimate, and these averaged 15.2 (versus the actual 3.25) percent butterfat. The estimates ranged from 0 to 100 percent!

The major determinants of the level of milk consumption in schools was (not surprisingly) level of participation in the school lunch program. The major determinant of participation in the school lunch program was the degree of organization of the school district.

Virtually all of the school districts offered a chocolate flavored milk beverage, and chocolate accounted for about 58 percent of all milk sales in the school districts. Chocolate, where offered, was clearly the milk beverage of first choice. Skim milk, although offered in 55.5 percent of the districts, accounted for only 3.2 percent of total milk sales. This made skim the least desired of all milks, by far.

THEY HOLD DOWN MORE THAN ONE JOB.

Kubota's mid-sized tractors are versatile. You'll find them at work on farms, in parks, nurseries, estate homes and construction sites.

Why? Kubota's L-Series tractors come with features you normally find only on bigger, heavier machines. Dependable 3-, 4-, or 5-cylinder diesel engines. 20-40 PTO horsepower. Even a new narrow version less than 4.4 feet wide.

You can select an 8x7 or 8x8 mechanical transmission plus 2 models with the exclusive Glide Shift Transmission. 2- or 4-wheel drive on most models.

A hefty 3-point
hitch. And more.

When you need a tractor that will get the job done, whatever it is, you'll find it here.

The Kubota
L-Series.
